Russian Ex-Officer Tells of Espionage

Appears at Trial of Sergeant
Accused of Spying for Reds

Washington — A former Russian officer who defected to the west gave the court-martial of Master Sgt. Roy A. Rhodes today an account of how Soviet espionage agents are trained and how they operate.

He was Reimo Hayhanen, a former lieutenant colonel who turned against Russia and testified at the trial of Col. Rudolph Abel, convicted of espionage in Brooklyn, N. Y., last October and sentenced to 30 years.

Hayhanen, a short heavy-set man in dark glasses, was called by the prosecution at Rhodes' court-martial on espionage charges after prosecutors suffered at least a temporary reverse.

FBI Agent Banned
An FBI agent was forbidden to testify about what the prosecution described as a confession by Rhodes. The bar may be only temporary.

Rhodes is accused of espionage conspiracy on allegations that he peddled information to Soviet agents for a fee while he was assigned to the U. S. embassy in Moscow from 1951 to 1953. He pleaded innocent yesterday to that and a companion charge that he falsified a loyalty oath.

The prosecuting attorney, Maj. Winchester Kelso, Jr., contends that Hayhanen was told by Abel, his boss in this country, of Russian desires to contact Rhodes in the United States after the sergeant returned from his assignment in Moscow.

Served As Counter-Spy
For something like an hour, Hayhanen gave the military court a repeat lesson on the training and operations of a Soviet espionage agent, similar to his testimony in the Abel trial. Hayhanen said he was engaged in counter-espionage and espionage from 1931 until last May.

Blaze Levels Rag Warehouse In Menasha

Damage Estimated
Up to $75,000;
Traffic Rerouted

Menasha — Damage unofficially estimated at between $50,000 and $75,000 resulted from a fire this morning which leveled one warehouse and caused considerable damage to another, both owned by David and Hannah Rosenthal of Appleton and rented by Meyer Burstein and Sons of Neenah.

The Menasha, Neenah and Appleton fire departments were still fighting the blaze, which began at 7:45, at noon today.

The buildings are located along the Chicago and North Western railway tracks behind St. Thomas Episcopal church in Menasha.

Four Pumps
Menasha and Neenah police had to reroute traffic during the early morning rush because of the fire, cause of which is still unknown.

Both buildings were filled with rags owned by the Meyer Burstein company. The buildings are about 40 years old and were partially insured.

Two Menasha pumps and 16 firemen were the first at the scene. A Neenah pump and 10 firemen arrived at 8 o'clock and an Appleton pump and five firemen left for the fire at 8:25.

The building destroyed was 50 by 81 feet and of frame construction. The roof and interior

Another Redstone Fired by Army

Cape Canaveral, Fla. — The army fired another Redstone last night and the missile's fiery flight through dark Florida skies may have solved more of the secrets of space.

When all returns are in, the Redstone test could advance the United States a step forward in the race with Russia for domination of the skies.

Belching orange fire, the bullet-shaped missile blasted off from the test center here at 7:32 p. m. just 25 seconds later. It vanished into a thick, coal-black overcast.

Files Given Him by Ousted Investigator to Be Returned To House Group, He Declares

Washington — Speaker of the House Rayburn (D-Texas) and Sen. Morse (D-Ore) urged a thorough airing today of accusations of political influence and misconduct in the federal regulatory agencies.

Rayburn and Rep. Harris (D-Ark.) said they want the disension-ridden house subcommittee to carry on Harris, chairman of the house commerce committee, took over the subcommittee reins yesterday after Rep. Moulder (D-Mo) resigned, saying he was powerless.

Rayburn told reporters after a 45-minute conference with subcommittee members that Harris himself "is going to Sen. Morse's apartment to get the papers." He referred to files turned over to Morse Monday night by Dr. Bernard Schwartz shortly after Schwartz was fired as subcommittee counsel.

Washington — Sen. Morse (D-Ore) said today he will demand a senate investigation of federal regulatory agencies, on top of a house inquiry now bogged down in an internal row.

He said he is preparing a resolution to set up a special committee for the job.

Morse also said he would turn back files given him by an ousted house prober. He said the house can have them back any time it sends somebody for them. He added he had telephoned that advice yesterday to House Speaker Rayburn (D-Texas).

Offered Records
Bernard Schwartz, fired as chief counsel for the special house subcommittee looking into affairs of the federal communications commission and five other regulatory agencies, called the papers his "personal working files" yesterday in disclosing they had been delivered to Morse. He said they could help show that some White House officials "have influenced actions of the regulatory agencies."

For himself, Morse said to day that the files show "the administration is honeycombed with political immorality." Morse made his comment first in an appearance on a television show. Later he talked with Capitol Hill reporters.

Relating how the papers came into his possession, Morse said two newsmen telephoned him after midnight the night before last and said they had the records. He said he told them he would take the files for safekeeping. A subpoena for all files was served on Schwartz at 12:35 a. m.

The newsmen brought Schwartz along when they

Asks $2 Billion To Modernize Postal Service

Program Aims to Provide Jobs in
All Parts of U. S.

Washington — President Eisenhower, moving to shore up the slumping economy, sent to congress today a $2 billion program to modernize post offices and postal services.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, disclosing plans for the postal modernization program yesterday, described it as one expected to "afford greater job opportunities in every section of the country."

Eisenhower proposed to finance it with revenues from an increase in postage rates he has asked congress to approve, and sent Postmaster General Summerfield before the senate post office committee to give more details and to argue for the rate boost. The proposal to boost postage on out of town letters from 3 to 5 cents faces an uphill fight in that committee.

Hagerty said "I think it would be fair" to describe the postal program as part of the administration's planning to combat the slump.

Just how fast it could provide job opportunities remained to be spelled out. The White House announcement said it would operate over the next three to five years. Its goal, the announcement said, was to create 100,000 new jobs in the postal service over three years.

Secretary of Commerce James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, was asked whether Eisenhower's prediction that joblessness will begin to decline in March means that the administration looks for an increase in February.

At the outset of his statement, Eisenhower took note of the unemployment figures made public yesterday. He said they indicate that "the current falling off in the economy is sharper than usual for this time of year."

The census bureau has said that the decline last month was about twice normal.

"I have confidence in the recovery of our economy later this year for two reasons," Eisenhower said.

"First, it is my conviction that the underlying forces of growth remain strong and undiminished."

"Second the firm policy of the government is to foster this recovery in every sound way."

The president said everyone is deeply concerned over the

Concerned Over Decline In Employment but Sees No Long Downward Swing

Program Aims to Provide Jobs in
All Parts of U. S.

Washington — President Eisenhower today expressed deep concern over unemployment hardship, and said he is confident the picture will start to brighten in March.

In a statement, the president left open the possibility that unemployment — which climbed to nearly 4 1/2 million last month — will get worse before the situation does improve.

Obviously troubled about the business recession, the president got out a special statement and also released a study reporting on government steps to combat it.

In the statement Eisenhower said:

"From the best advice I can get, and on my own study of the facts regularly placed before me, I believe that we have had most of our bad news on the unemployment front. "I am convinced that we are not facing a prolonged downward swing in activity."

"Every indication is that March will commence to see the start of a pickup in job opportunities, that should mark the beginning of the end of the downturn in our economy, provided we apply ourselves with confidence to the job ahead. As Americans we have a responsibility to work toward the early resumption of sound growth in our economy."

Other Measures Possible
In setting forth steps the government already has taken or plans to take to deal with the recession, Eisenhower added that if other measures should be needed, "I assure they shall be proposed—and in time."

Eisenhower's survey of the economic situation came less than 24 hours after:

The government reported that joblessness last month increased 1,120,000—the biggest monthly rise since the depression of the 1930s—to a total of nearly 4 1/2 million.

Eisenhower followed up swiftly with announcement that he is asking congress to authorize a $2 billion program of modernization of post offices and postal services over three years.

Secretary of Commerce James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, was asked whether Eisenhower's prediction that joblessness will begin to decline in March means that the administration looks for an increase in February.

Boy Confesses He Killed Girl

Pushed Her From
Roof of Apartment
Building in Bronx

New York — A pretty 7-year-old girl was lured to the roof of a Bronx apartment house yesterday with a promise of 10 cents and a lollipop, and thrown 12 floors to her death.

Francis Michael Medaille, 15-year-old boy expelled from a parochial school a month ago for failing in three subjects, surrendered to police and admitted the crime.

"I put my hands around her neck and choked her a little bit. I don't know why. And then I pushed her off the roof," he was charged with homicide.

Killed instantly when she landed atop a first-story apartment on the building was Kathleen Hegmann, one of eight children of John and Rita Hegmann.

Medaille was said by police to be the second eldest of nine children of George Medaille, a night desk clerk at a Manhattan hotel, and his wife Margaret, who also works nights.

Medaille told Deputy Inspector John V. Halk that he had said in the girl:

"I need a strong girl to help me bring a heavy box down from the roof. If you come up and help me I'll give you 10 cents and a lollipop."

The boy appeared at a police station shortly after the girl was found dead and allegedly told police:

"I just threw a girl off a roof. I want to turn myself in."

West Attempts to Snatch German Scientists From Hands of Reds

BY FLETCHER KNEBEL

Washington—Soon after Nazi Germany crashed in Wagnerian flames, orders went to American technical intelligence teams at Garmisch-Partenkirchen to snatch a group of German scientists from under the nose of the Russian army in the area of Nordhausen.

Dr. Richard W. Porter of General Electric company, a civilian interrogator with army technical intelligence, flew up to Nordhausen. There was no time to lose.

Another army technical team, headed by Maj. James P. Hamill, 25, had removed 100 V-2 rockets and parts from the Nordhausen plant. Now we wanted the remaining personnel. The area was held by the British, but the Russian army was due to take over in 24 hours.

Porter worked fast. He rounded up the scientists and their families, loaded them in boxcars, assembled a train and ordered a German engineer to head west for Kassel in the United States zone.

It was a wild ride. They feared Russian troops might hit their train at any moment. At one down-grade, the engineer warned the train would pile up at the bottom. There were no hand brakes on the cars. Porter ordered the "descent" anyway. The train came down safely.

At another spot, the engineer tried to quit and an American officer had to pull a gun. The trainload of technicians finally pulled into Kassel literally at gunpoint.

Missile blueprints, drawings and documents were recovered from salt mines where scientists secreted them. Salt absorbs dampness. Five trunks full of papers of Gen. Walter Dornberger, a rocket chief from Peenemunde, were shipped to America via England.

But our officers feared the British might confiscate the papers. Fifty pounds of Dornberger's most valuable documents were carried back to the United States by Dr. Porter, who had himself accredited as a diplomatic courier for the job.

Valuable Figures

A scientific bonanza was found at Koehel, a town in the Alp foothills south of Munich. Here, unknown to allied intelligence, 200 rocket specialists had worked on wind tunnel calculations for the last 14 months of the war.

The unit had been transferred from Peenemunde after an came his "buddy," shadowing him day and night.

In contrast to the first meager American offer to the German technicians — $6 a day and no provision for dependents — the Russians offered luxury under the Soviet equivalent of Paper Clip, known as Operation Ossawakin. Singelman was promised a car, large house, big salary and laboratory if he would go to Moscow, but he played hard to get.

One night Singelman sat by while his Russian "buddy" got soused on vodka. After a full quart of the liquor, the Russian fell asleep. With no belongings except those on their backs, the Singelmans eluded the camp guard, made their way to Berlin and sneaked into the British zone.

Even so, Russian officers found him in his new quarters and kept coming around to persuade him. Finally, almost a year after the war ended, Singelman went to Frankfort, and was offered an American contract. He was sent to the United States and is now a rocket consultant at Bell Aircraft corporation.

Hides in Woods

Another seized by the Russians was Dr. John G. Gievers, a gyro expert who had been transferred to a research lab in a Czechoslovak town after bombings disrupted work in Berlin. When the Russians at war's end overran the town, Gievers hid in the woods for three days with his family, but was nabbed by two Russian colonels and sent to work in Sebnitz, Germany.

When transferred to the Russian sector of Berlin, Gievers stole into the British zone, worked in England, and finally came here in 1951. He now works for the Chrysler corporation.

Before the Americans pulled back from the Elbe, Dr. Anselm Franz, director of the main Junkers aircraft engine division at Dessau, sought out an American officer and offered an entire team of jet engine specialists. An army truck convoy took 30 jet engineers and their families west from Dessau.

The operation was carried out under the nose of the Rus-

Another first from Ford... a brilliant new version of a great American classic

THE 4-PASSENGER THUNDERBIRD

The new 4-passenger Thunderbird abounds in luxury—yet it is priced far below other luxury cars!

Pure Thunderbird in spirit and performance, but now it seats four...with full fine-car room, comfort and luxury!

Utterly unlike any other car on the American Road, the 4-passenger Thunderbird is the first of a new size and new type of fine automobile.

This straight-lined, low-swept jewel stands only slightly larger than the raciest car built, a mere 52.5 inches high. It handles and parks like a dream. Yet it gives enough leg, head and shoulder room to seat four varsity crewmen in comfort. And the doors are exceptionally wide—even in furs and evening dress a lady can step in and out with ease and grace.

Pure Thunderbird in design, this new 4-passenger beauty is pure Thunderbird in spirit as well. This means, as any Thunderbird owner will tell you, brilliant performance whether on Main Street or on U.S. 1.

Ford engineers have lavished their most advanced design features on the new Thunderbird: New 300-horsepower Thunderbird 352 Special V-8 Engine is a superlative precision instrument, thrilling to command. New single unit body construction molds top, body and frame into one single, solid piece of sculptured steel. This remarkable advance adds extra roominess, strength and safety to the 1958 Thunderbird.

Conceived, designed and built to be the most advanced prestige car on the American Road, the new Thunderbird is so wonderfully poised, so uncannily sensitive to your every wish that you must drive it to believe it.

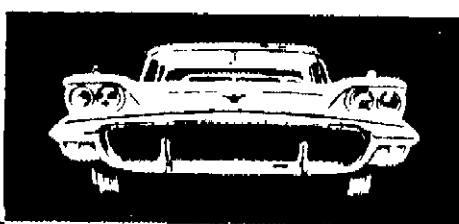

Visit your Ford Dealer. Let him tell you all about this exciting, different car.

AMERICA'S MOST INDIVIDUAL CAR
at a price far below that of other luxury cars

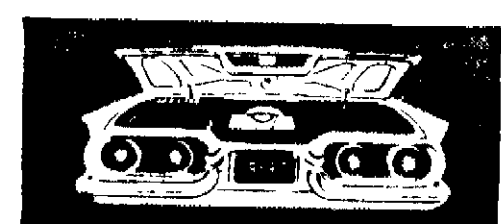

Brilliant new instrument panel has unmistakable sports car personality, safety padding and deeply recessed control cluster. Special feature: Inner surface of Thunderbird's glove box door is ingeniously designed as a handy service tray!

Luxurious comfort and full fine-car roominess distinguish the glamorous 1958 Thunderbird. The exclusive "panel console" rises from the floor and houses heater controls, ash trays, radio speaker—and power window controls serving the convenience of all four passengers. And wide, glide-through doors give you direct access to all four contoured seats. Clearly, the Thunderbird is America's most individual car.

With all its interior roominess and comfort, the new 4-passenger Thunderbird is beautifully compact. It handles, corners and parks with an ease and poise that is simply out of the question in the big, bulky cars.

More room than you need! Completely new trunk compartment gives you more than 20 cubic feet of trunk space—more than enough room to carry the average family of four's luggage on a cross-country jaunt!

Unemployment Peak Reached, Gehrke Thinks

Appleton WSES
Chief Says 2,214
People Seek Jobs

What should be the peak of current unemployment was reached as January ended. Fred Gehrke, Wisconsin State Employment Service, believes.

Gehrke's office in Appleton listed 2,214 people seeking work at month's end, compared with 1,636 as December closed and 1,386 a year ago.

To balance the number of job seekers, Gehrke said his office had 72 openings on file going in to February. This compares with 70 openings carried into January and 130 brought forward to February, 1957.

Gehrke's office helped 85 prople find jobs in January, compared with 100 in December and 95 a year ago in January.

To accomplish this, the staff referred 226 people to employers compared with 205 in December and 250 in January, 1957.

Eighty-one of the jobs found were in non-agricultural fields. Of these 42 resulted in women gaining employment. A separate breakdown shows 18 of the 81 jobs went to people over 45 years old.

"There are opportunities for women in most fields," says Gehrke, "but especially in the clerical line. Married women with grown children have the best chances."

Gehrke said some plants are calling back workers.

Twenty-four of the 84 jobs were in the wholesale-retail trades field. Ten were in food establishments. The rest were scattered over a large range of occupations.

Dr. Ernest Jones, Famed Disciple Of Freud, Dies

London — Dr. Ernest Jones, 79, internationally known British psychoanalyst and biographer of Sigmund Freud, died Tuesday.

The son of a Welsh mining engineer, Jones became a doctor at the age of 21. A few years later he became fascinated with Freud's new technique of psychoanalysis, went to Austria to study with him, and in 1906 became the first person to apply the technique outside the German-speaking countries.

He always remained faithful to Freud's teachings, despite denunciations by such famed analysts as Carl Jung and Alfred Adler, who later set up their own systems.

On Hitler's rise to power in Germany and his subsequent invasion of Austria, Jones battled tirelessly to rescue psychoanalysts of Jewish origin. He was instrumental in bringing the aged Freud and his daughter Anna to England before World war II.

Before World war I Jones worked in Toronto and in the United States, where he helped found the Psychoanalytical association. He was honorary life president of the International Psychoanalytical association.

Brothers Admit 5 Burglaries Of Taverns, Service Stations

Two brothers held in Outagamie county jail for two break-ins have admitted five other burglaries to sheriff's department investigators.

They are James R. Brush, 25, 725 N. Division street, and Robert P. Brush, 17, 309 Evans street, New London. They were arrested early Saturday morning after they fled from the South Side Athletic club, 1726 S. Lave street. They admitted in to Appleton detectives that they also broke into the K-C bar, 317 N. Appleton street, Saturday morning, stealing $225.

After questioning by Sheriff's 14 Jack Zuelzke Tuesday, the Brush brothers admitted the Nov. 23 burglary of the Club Terrace, Highway 41 and County Trunk BB, where they got $170 and several cases of liquor; Nov. 23 break-in of the United Oil company, 230 E. Pacific street, where they got $35; the Nov. 23 break-in of the Clark Oil company, 2010 W. Wisconsin avenue, where they got $12; the Nov. 23 break-in of the Consolidated Super Gas station, 303 N. Appleton street, where they took some dishes and fled after dropping a cash bag containing $200, and the Jan. 28 break-in of the Zietlow Oil company, 520 N. Water street, New London, where $30 and two tires were taken. The tires were found on Robert's car, Zuelzke said.

Information on the Zietlow break-in was given Zuelzke by New London Chief of Police Harry Macklin.

Questioning of the youths is continuing, and investigators indicated the arrest may clear a series of break-ins and burglaries in this area.

Tuesday morning the brothers were ordered held for a pre-sentence investigation after they pleaded guilty in municipal court to the K-C bar and South Side club break-ins.

Springfield Observes Lincoln's Birthday

Springfield, Ill. — Abraham Lincoln's life and ideals will be recalled today in ceremonies observing the Civil war president's 149th birthday anniversary.

Homage in this shrine city will center at the tomb in Oak Ridge cemetery headed by the American Legion's annual pilgrimage. National Legion Commander John S. Gleason, Jr., and Gov. William G. Stratton were to take part. A Legion caravan also planned to visit the restored village at New Salem State park where Lincoln lived as a young man.

Bankers Award Goes to Iola Farm Couple

Waupaca Association Honors Palmer Myra For Conservation

Waupaca — Palmer and Lois Myra of Iola were named the most progressive farmers in Waupaca county Tuesday afternoon during the annual Bankers' Award dinner at Trinity Lutheran church.

They were selected from a list of 22 township winners picked by a panel of judges from the Waupaca Farm Improvement association. Judging is based on advances in soil improvement, woodland and pasture improvements, family living, community activities and other fields.

The Myras purchased their 90 acre farm in 1951 and began soil conservation projects at that time. In 1954 they purchased an additional 40 acres giving them a total of 130. Crops occupy 105 acres of their land. They have established 79 acres of strip cropping, 25 acres of woodland management, 54 acres of tree planting, built 2,500 feet of terraces and 1,450 feet of diversions.

Seed Grains. Myra raises certified seed grains which he resells. He has 52 head of Guernsey cattle, 36 being milk cows.

The Myras belong to the Wisconsin Farm Improvement association, are members of Our Saviour's Lutheran church in Iola and have four children.

Lois is a member of the Ladies aid and the Mother's circle and Palmer attends night school.

The runners-up were Adolph and Pearl, and Everett and Gloria Anderson of the town of Farmington. They operate a 250 acre farm and began soil conservation work in 1946.

Lincoln on Emancipation

Since Abraham Lincoln and the Civil War are favorite subjects of authors, the many facets of his character and actions have been put under a microscope. Perhaps his clarity of vision concerning the reasons for the war, his recognition of his duty and his acceptance of the responsibility for his actions are paramount reasons why many Americans consider him our greatest president.

Lincoln's attitude toward slavery and emancipation offers, perhaps, the best example of the kind of man he was. From the beginning he never wavered from his belief that disunion was the primary danger of the era, and slavery, while it was the greatest single cause of disunion, must not be considered as the main principle involved. Quotations from various letters and speeches are revealing.

As early as 1845 Mr. Lincoln wrote:

I hold it to be a paramount duty to us in the free states, due to the Union of the States, and perhaps to liberty itself (paradox though it may seem), to let slavery of the other states alone; while, on the other hand, I hold it to be equally clear that we should never knowingly lend ourselves, directly or indirectly, to prevent that slavery from dying a natural death.

In 1849 Congressman Lincoln introduced one of the many bills calling for the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, but encompassing his ideas of emancipation which he was never able to accomplish — gradual emancipation with compensation and through a vote of the people. But along with his theory of giving time to slave owners was his realization of the inconsistency of the institution of slavery with the concept of liberty in the United States. In a speech in Peoria in 1854 he gave one of the first signs that he realized how terrible was the dilemma in which the nation writhed:

Little by little, but steadily as man's march to the grave, we have been giving up the old for the new faith. Near 80 years ago we began by declaring that all men were created equal . . . but now we have run down to the other declaration, that for some men to enslave others is a "sacred right of self-government". These principles cannot stand together. They are as opposite as God and Mammon.

In 1859 Lincoln was looking at the national government's attitude toward something which had to be considered as basically wrong:

This government is expressly charged with the duty of providing for the general welfare. We believe that the spreading out and perpetuity of the institution of slavery impairs the general welfare. We believe — nay, we know — that that is the only thing that has ever threatened the perpetuity of the Union itself.

Clearly as war president Lincoln saw emancipation as a political measure. He reversed proclamations issued by various generals, including Butler, Hunter and Fremont, by arguing that such announcements of eternal liberty were not part of their war powers. At that time he wrote to a critic, "The proclamation in the point in question, is simply 'dictatorship' . . . You speak of it as being the only means of saving the government. On the contrary, it is itself a surrender of the government."

It is possible that the two confiscation acts passed by Congress and authorizing the seizing of slaves from rebels under certain conditions made Lincoln realize that gradual emancipation was impossible. The attitude of northern congressmen and citizens must have been revealed to him by the almost unnoticed passage of an act prohibiting slavery in the territories despite the fact it was this issue that had caused debate and violence for several decades before the war. In a message to a special session of Congress in 1861 Lincoln said, "The Union must be preserved, and hence all indispensable means must be employed." And in July of 1862 he appealed to representatives of the border states to put into effect his plan for gradual, compensated emancipation:

If the war continues long . . . the institution in your states will be extinguished . . . It will be gone and you will have nothing in lieu of it . . . How much better for you and your people to take the step which at once shortens the war and secures substantial compensation for that which is sure to be wholly lost in any other event?

Along this same line of thought he wrote a soothing letter to Horace Greeley in the spring of 1862:

If I were to suggest anything it would be that as the North is already for the measure (abolition), we should urge it persuasively, and not menacingly upon the South.

By the summer of 1862 President Lincoln had been convinced that emancipation was necessary as a war measure. But again he wrote to Greeley, in August:

My paramount object in this struggle is to save the Union, and is not either to save or to destroy slavery. If I could save the Union without freeing any slave I would do it, and if I could save it by freeing all the slaves I would do it, and if I could save it by freeing some and leaving others alone, I would also do that. What I do about slavery, and the colored race, I do because I believe it helps to save the Union; and what I forbear, I forbear because I do not believe it would help to save the Union . . . I have here stated my purpose according to my view of official duty and I intend no modification of my oft-expressed personal wish that all men everywhere could be free.

Lincoln had discussed the proclamation with his cabinet members earlier in the summer and, on their advice, waited until a victory made it more effective. But in his talk to his cabinet in September he made it clear that the proclamation was his own personal responsibility:

I do not wish your advice about the main matter—for that have determined for myself. . . I know very well that many others might, in this matter, as in others, do better than I can. . . But though I believe that I have not so much of the confidence of the people as I had some time since, I do not know that . . . any other person has more.

I am here, I must do the best I can, and bear the responsibility of taking the course which I feel I ought to take.

Perhaps, as Harry Truman recently suggested, Lincoln would have failed to control the vindictive radical Republicans in their subsequent ruin of the South after the war. But there is no doubt that he controlled, to an amazing extent, the events and decisions of the Union through one of the most desperate times of our history.

Circle on another trip when relief ships could not reach them. And the pack of dogs he had bred and trained for the trail he sacrificed as food.

Both Sir Edmund and Dr. Fuchs have theories about land mass and other scientific problems of the Antarctic regions which their treks across the frozen poles may clarify. But their real reasons for the journeys, just as the real reason for the urge of man to reach the moon, has little to do with beating the Russians, surviving as a democracy or establishing scientific facts.

G. L. Mallory, who may have been the first man to reach the top of Mount Everest (he didn't come down), put it simply. Men climb mountains "because they're there." There is some yearning in the human spirit that makes such fantastic trials of strength and endurance not only possible but compulsory for some people.

Meanwhile the Air Force, conducting a "Mars in jars" program, collected bacteria-laden soil from such desolate areas as Mount McKinley and the Grand Canyon. The samples were kept in jars with atmospheric conditions similar to that of Mars; 99 per cent nitrogen, little moisture and great temperature ranges of from 70 degrees above zero to 95 degrees below. Some bacteria faded away but others increased a thousand-fold in three months. Obviously life, once begun, could be maintained on Mars. But how does it begin and has it?

There has been no evidence of reasoning beings on any planets despite the excitement at an Italian astronomer's discovery of the "canals" on Mars back in 1877. But one thing is sure, before many more decades, if we don't blow the Earth apart first, somebody is going to find out.

Basic Researchers Needed to Enable Practical Men to Do Things

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Some men must devote themselves to the search for the truth not only because

and discontented men. They search the heavens; they pursue mathematical formulae; they investigate the entrails of animals; they crawl along the bottom of the sea; they climb the highest mountains and go to the South Pole; they argue in symbols and write on blackboards. Other men regard them as impractical, yet all that we know comes from such searchers for the truth.

There is no use requiring research scientists to weigh and measure and supervise, for theirs is the realm of thought and if thinking sometimes makes them seem to be impractical, all the ways that practical men have for making money and producing their wares originated with such persons as my colleague, Mr. Pegler, would call a double-dome.

For the origin of all application is thought and thought leads to theory. Today, to avoid classifying anyone as a theorist and having a congressman from Brooklyn ask why the government employs a lot of theorists, they are called basic scientists. They thought up the atom bomb, the hydrogen bomb, the rocket and about everything else that is even too practical to think about kindly.

Appreciate Basic Science

Reading the numerous volumes of the hearings of the senate preparedness subcommittee, I find that the very practical Donald Douglas, Sr., who makes all those DC airplanes and many other tremendous things, appreciates the value of the basic scientist. For practical men have long ago learned that they need these other men to do the searching for the truth out of which the practical man makes money. So this senate preparedness subcommittee asked the Douglas Aircraft company this question:

"With respect to the missile programs, has there been an adequate and proper use of scientific manpower?"

To this a reply which I find to be important and conclusive was given by Robert Louis Johnson, the company's missile engineer:

"Research is an all sort of a thrashing about, looking for basic knowledge. It is learning. And there are certain people who by education and bent are well qualified to do that. You usually call them scientists.

"When these people are pulled off to monitor and to try to do the robes of engineers and have a goal and not be rather widespread in their thinking, it is a waste of their talents."

Further, Johnson commented:

"It is my belief that many fine American scientists have found themselves in an untenable position when charged with the responsibility of administering weapons system developments. A scientist abhors a time schedule as much as an engineer abhors a contract for something which he has not the means of delivering."

"This is precisely why, in private industry, basic and applied research is usually segregated for freedom of action in a staff capacity rather than a line capacity."

Ignorant Ridicule Learned

Basic research is of tremendous importance and the Russians pay much attention to it as the Germans always have. However, some people in this country often wonder whether it is worth the candle. They cannot understand why anyone should be paid for tinkering about in a laboratory or writing in Greek on a blackboard. Such people seem not to know that if there were no ecologists or paleontologists, there would be no adequate discovery of oil wells, just to pick up one subject.

The ignorant often extol ignorance and speak of the learned as intellectual snobs, particularly because some of the more learned find it trying to listen to the inaccuracies of those who suffer from a little knowledge which these days will get you nowhere in a technical field.

On this subject, Donald Douglas, Sr., has some thoroughly sound ideas:

"I think there should be an independent commission on pure research. When you get to applied research, I think that the using services have got to control that."

I find the study of the hearings of this committee most exciting and valuable. The news, of course, was summarized in the press when the hearings occurred, but there are details which only direct quotations can produce adequately for the American people and as I come across them in the hearings, I shall recount them to you.

Water Resources Study A Progressive Step

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — It may seem strange to Wisconsin residents who have the evidence of their own eyes about the abundance of water resources in the state that the legislature has set up with considerable fan-fare and fuss a major water resources investigating committee. The problem is really not one of shortages, except in isolated and exigent cases, but one of management and an increasingly evident conflict of interest among various user groups of the state.

There is no evidence there is any serious problem of ground water reserves in the state. Quite obviously also Wisconsin is blessed with an abundance of surface waters. Its lakes and streams represent a truly vital natural resource, in a district that has been endowed with relatively little in the way of mineral riches.

In the sense that the legislature is preparing for a serious review of Wisconsin water use laws in spite of such apparent abundance, it is showing a progressive and thoughtful attitude.

THE USE

THE IMPORTANCE

Without its lakes and streams, fishing and hunting in Wisconsin would not survive, and the huge summer resort industry would perish. The conservation commission has been keenly aware of the increasing pressure upon recreational resources that has come with population growth and the increasing leisure of most of the population. Wisconsin population will continue to grow, and with that growth will come more conflicts in the use of water. The conflict between farmers who are becoming more interested in irrigation of croplands, for example, and fishermen resolved to preserve trout streams may be a difficult one to resolve. But resolved it must be, and its resolution is one of the purposes of the extensive study program now underway under auspices of the legislature.

Underground water, meanwhile, is vital to the health and prosperity of the state. Industrial development is a keynote of the state's present policy. Most new industry must have dependable supplies of good water, and some industries require water in almost unbelievable volumes. While there is no evidence of any critical shortage, it is surely the path of wisdom to take inventory and to guard against future problems.

THE LEGISLATION

Wisconsin laws governing water rights are essentially primitive, in the perspective of other social controls of today. They were written many generations ago, in a time of lesser population, tiny industrial development, and a different public philosophy of the relation of government to the affairs of the individual.

The goal of the current water study is to accommodate individual rights and group rights to the welfare and interest of the public as a whole — and it is already evident that the attainment won't be easy.

Incidentally the study will consider the matter of administering the new public policy when it is evolved. The outlook now is for administrative machinery attached to existing regulatory bodies — such as the public service commission, for example, rather than for the creation of a new and separate bureaucracy.

Natural Gas Bill Backers Hurt By Letter to Texas Republicans

BY JAMES MARLOW

Washington —7— Some people cut their throats once, and that's enough. But the natural gas people are beginning to make a hobby of it.

They spend a lot of money trying to get through congress a natural gas bill which will free them of government price control and mean millions for them.

Then, by primitive tactics, they wreck their chance. They did that in 1956. In Texas this week they just about ruined any hope for passage of a gas bill this year.

They were going well in 1956, with President Eisenhower favorable toward a natural gas bill and the Democratic and Republican leaders in congress behind it.

Then suddenly Sen. Case (R-SD) shocked the country by telling the senate some lawyer he didn't know had dropped $2,500 into his reelection campaign fund. And Case said he thought it was done to influence his vote on the bill.

President Vetted Bill

Democrats and Republicans teamed up anyway to pass the bill. But by now there was an odor from this piece of gas legislation and Eisenhower vetoed it.

After a senate investigation of Case's charges, two lawyers—John M. Neff and troubles—with laughs, has his Elmer Patman, both employed work published in over 250 by the Superior Oil Co. of Cal—newspapers throughout the nation, pleaded guilty in court.

Post estimated the dinner raised $100,000.

After this letter appeared in the Post Tuesday, the Eisen-hower administration and the Republican party leadership began denying any knowledge of it. Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, said no one at the White House had known.

And Meade Alcorn, Republi-can National chairman, said the same, plus this: "The Re-publican National committee will not accept any funds from the proceeds of the Houston dinner."

Martin, too, denied any knowledge of the letter but said he would vote for the bill.

Another Republican, Sen. Aik-en of Vermont, said: "It's sad that people who can amass millions of dollars show so little political judgment."

This whole episode gave sup-port to opponents of the bill. And it's bound to make Demo-crats and Republicans who'd like to vote for it a little self-conscious. No one now sees a rosy future for the bill.

Fewer Traffic Mishaps This January Than Year Ago, County Police Say

There were fewer accidents, injuries and cars damaged last month than during January, 1956, Captain Ronald E. Decker of the county police reports. No fatal accidents were reported and the last traffic death in the county occurred Dec. 22.

There were 34 accidents last month with 49 vehicles damaged compared to 63 a year ago. Properly damage amounted to $13,975 compared to $19,900 last year. There were 22 persons injured last month, 17 less than the 39 a year ago. Last January one person died on the high-way.

Nineteen accidents involved a single car and 17 of the drivers involved in accidents were under 25.

You get the best of brakes in the car of Magnificent Change

Buick's Award-Winning Air-Cooled Aluminum Brakes*

"...conservatively, a 100% improvement over conventional Detroit brakes." SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED, Feb.

After making 22 emergency stops from 60 MPH in a 1958 Buick CENTURY, SCI tells its readers: "This was by far the most severe test we ever have submitted a sedan's brakes to, but after it was over the Buick's brakes functioned perfectly."

Look at everything you can have in the B-58 — no wonder it's Buick's year to cheer

B-58 DYNASTAR GRILLE — stunning highlight of the new face of fashion.

MIGHTY B-12000 ENGINE — develops 12,000 pounds of thrust behind each power stroke.

SPECTACULAR FLIGHT PITCH DYNAFLOW* — switches the pitch a million ways automatically — provides perfect power delivery.

MIRACLE CHASSIS PLUS AIR RIDE* — automatically adjusts itself to every road and load, cradles your ride on 4 columns of air.

RUGGED N-BRACED CHASSIS WITH FAMOUS BUICK ROYALFLOW TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE — gives you the air ride at its buoyant best.

DUAL VISTA VISION HEAD LAMPS — have 50% stronger "brights" — 25% stronger "low" beam.

"VELVET WALL" SOUND SILENCING — scientifically seals out road noises, heat and vibration.

SAFETY PLATE GLASS ALL AROUND — protects you and your family — gives distortion-free visibility.

SPARKLING NEW LUCITE PAINTS* — that retain their luster far longer — optional at very little cost.

WORLD'S FINEST POWER ACCESSORIES* — offer you your choice of power options for steering, braking, windows, seat adjustment, automatic head-lamp dimmer — even a power radio antenna.

All engineered to the highest standards of quality and precision ever set by Buick

*Flight Pitch Dynaflow standard on LIMITED and ROADMASTER 5, optional at extra cost on other Series. Buick air ride optional at extra cost on all Series. Automatic Front Brakes standard on all Series except SPECIAL.

Morse Seeking Senate Probe of U. S. Agencies

came to his home. Morse said and Schwartz left the papers. Morse said he concluded the records belonged to the special house committee on legislative oversight which has been making the agency study and quarreling over it. His call to Rayburn was the upshot, he said.

But Morse, a frequent and bitter critic of the administration, said he sees a need for a senate study in the same field.

Wants Senate Inquiry

Schwartz, accusing a majority of the house group of aiming at a whitewash made it clear he was trying for a study by some other committee.

Rep. Harris (D-Ark.), who the house probe meantime, he

The White House announced estimated $14 billion of the new program would represent private investment in construction of new post offices. The government's actual capital investment would be $175 million a year earmarked for new mail handling devices and other equipment for the leased buildings, plus rehabilitation of expansion of some federally owned post office buildings.

Referring to yesterday's unemployment report, which showed 5.8 per cent of the nation's working force without jobs, Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said he was hoping the administration would take this thing in hand before it gets too serious.

The government should step in now to develop public works," Aiken said. "It should distribute food to the unemployed before they are forced onto the relief rolls. Once we get started down an economic slide it will be difficult to stop."

Along similar lines, Gray said it is welcome news to men of the building industry and all Americans, for its beneficial effects will be widespread and in the public interest.

New unemployment figures prompted George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, to call for "quick action . . . to stop this thing from rolling in a vicious circle."

Doubts Early Upturn

At Miami Beach, Fla., where labor federation leaders were winding up their winter meeting, Meany indicated doubt that an upturn will appear by mid-year as Eisenhower has forecast. He predicted that the number of jobless will rise at least another million before things get better.

"I think the situation is far worse than the administration seems to feel it is," Meany said.

He called for a stepped-up public works program and other stop-gap measures, a plan into which Eisenhower's postal proposal would fit.

Most of the building would be financed by private interests under the lease-purchase law, which permits the government to authorize such construction under a long-term lease arrangement. The government ment said is to modernize the obsolete physical plant of the post office department.

Prompt endorsement of the plan came from the National Association of Postmasters and from Richard J. Gray, president of the AFL-CIO building and construction trades department.

Charles E. Puskas, secretary of the postmasters organization, said that "this action will not only result in an improved postal service, but will strengthen the nation's economy."

Along similar lines, Gray said it is welcome news to men of the building industry and all Americans, for its beneficial effects will be widespread and in the public interest.

hardships that the unemployment figures reflect "for the families of the additional breadwinners temporarily out of work, and those that have gone on a shortened work week, he added.

"I know that we are concerned, too, with the loss of production involved and the pressure this puts on many businesses across the land. While these developments reflect important features of our present economic situation, they must be seen in perspective as we look ahead."

Eisenhower then went on to predict the start of recovery in March.

Referring to the programs already undertaken or planned to combat the recession, Eisenhower said he was making it "to dispel false impressions and to make clear the ac-

County Board Sets New $6,000 Wage for Clerk

Motions for Larger Increase Defeated; License Fees Eliminated From Pay Scale

The Outagamie county board Tuesday set the county clerk's salary at a flat $6,000 per year effective Jan. 1, 1959.

Frederickson

The present salary is $5,000 annually plus conservation license fees. Mollie E. Peterson, county clerk, said she would resign if Retson's motion was passed.

"Any pay increase should consider the person presently holding the position," Mollie E. Peterson said. "The county clerk is a good job but it would take a new clerk a long time to learn the job well enough to be worth the money," Esler said.

The board defeated a move by Appleton Supv. Philip Retson to set the clerk's salary at $6,000 per year. Also defeated was Bovina Supv. Ervin Conrad's move to raise the clerk's pay to $6,200 per year.

Consider the Job Appleton Supv. Sylvester Esler, chairman of the civil services in surrounding counties, pointing out that salaries in Winnebago, Manitowish, Calumet and Brown counties were higher than the salary paid in Outagamie county.

Supv. Walter Frederickson, New London, said clerks in other counties are paid for additional duties not assigned to the Outagamie county clerk.

Supv. P. J. Brennan Appleton said a pay boost would attract top candidates for the job.

Other Actions In other action, the board passed a $6,500 appropriation for Outagamie county libraries. Breakdown of the total shows Appleton $4,550, Kaukauna $682, Seymour $900, New London $130, Kimberly $390, Shioles $130, Black Creek $162 and Hortonville $195.

Chairman Alvin Fuller appointed a 5-man committee to study feasibility of locating a University of Wisconsin extension center in the County Northers at Manston will lose their jobs as a result of the departure of 2,500 Americans. Yanks Pull Out, English Yell Murder as Money Goes

London—I find it most amusing that the British press is beginning to mean about the fact that a couple of sea-side towns are about the presence of the planes made too much noise. The airman got drunk as military personnel time will and also stole the girls from the local swains. They drove up prices with their free spending habits and astronomical salaries. They chewed gum noise of the jets, complicated the farrowing of pigs, upsets the church services and makes the horses nervous. The fact that our presence here is a necessary annoyance at the time but insurance for the future heavy concentrations of military men over stressed the facilities of small towns. The incipient heroes were cursed for their presence, but every small tradesman in town got rich. Demonstration of Drunkometer Given Weyauwega—Clintonville Police Chief Keith Beggs demonstrated the use of the drunkometer Monday evening at a meeting of the Weyauwega-Fremont Lions club. George Lincoln was in charge of the program.

There could be a day, some day, when the good people of places like Margate and Rams gate will miss the Yank plane in the air, and not only for the lavish pounds they spent on the ground.

They used to holler about the noise the RAF made, too, but when Hitler sent his luftwaffe, the vast RAF mustache suddenly became a very popular when a very few took on a great many and literally saved the island from a man with a much smaller mustache.

Works Board Agrees to Buy Marston Land

Asks Council to Pay $28,000 After Long Negotiations End

Purchase of the Marston property, 121 E. Kimball street, for $28,000 will be recommended to the city council next Wednesday night.

The board of public works, which has been negotiating for the land for months, reached a final agreement over price with the heirs of the Mrs. L. J. Marston estate Tuesday.

Works board members entered negotiations upon request of the vocational school's board of directors. The vocational board wants the land for a parking lot for students now and for school expansion in the future.

Director of Public Works Ed. J. Duszynski told the works board his engineers had 12,600 square feet of table on the hillside lot and something over 14,000 square feet of usable land if a retaining wall is built.

$2.22 a Foot
Based on the 12,600 square feet figure, the purchase price amounts to about $2.22 a square foot.

Details of payment will have to be worked out with Edwin S. Godfrey, attorney for Roy and Louise Marston, the heirs. The heirs want 25 per cent down and the rest over a period of years. Mayor Robert Roemer said he's been told.

The $28,000 sale price is a compromise between the $31,000 asking price and $25,000 city bid. The Marstons, through Godfrey, told Roemer they would not take $25,000. They agreed to the $28,000 Monday by telephone.

Whether the vocational board will be given immediate control of the parcel for conversion to a parking lot is in doubt.

renting the home, said to be in excellent condition, for a period of years. The move would reduce the property's cost to the city. No decision was made but more discussion was planned.

The tract, site of the home of former Mayor Joseph Marston (1877 and 1882) is just east of the vocational school on the hill that overlooks E. Water street.

Choice of Pool Site Definite, Mayor Reports

The southeast corner of Reid Municipal Golf course definitely will be recommended as the site for the proposed outdoor swimming pool next Wednesday night, Mayor Robert L. Roemer told the board of public works Tuesday.

Works board members immediately began discussion of which of seven applicants to hire for pool planning. The discussion was cut short when it was pointed out that the pool lot committee first must recommend the site and the council vote on it.

That vote will come at next Wednesday night's council meeting when the pool committee's report is voted upon.

Should Be Exact
Director of Public Works Ed. J. Duszynski told the board that when an applicant is selected the board should be as exact as possible with what it wants.

Roemer said the pool committee will meet with the board to explain what it has found in its tours of other pools.

Generally, the pool committee has talked of a rectangular-shaped pool, about 24 feet deep at one end and about 3 feet deep at the other, with a squared diving well off the center. It would look exactly like Neenah's pool area.

Further discussion revealed that ideas for bathhouses, perhaps a snack bar and how to house equipment are uncertain.

Mrs. A. D. Kawalsky, Retired Clintonville Business Woman, Dies

Mrs. A. D. Kawalsky, 77, former Clintonville business woman, died Tuesday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Goodrich, 333 N. Parkway boulevard, after a long illness.

She was born Nov. 18, 1880, and spent her early days in Marion. Trained as a milliner, she operated the hat and ready-to-wear department in the former Folkman store, Clintonville, and later managed Kraus Millinery store, Clintonville.

In 1932, she opened the Pauline Style shop, Clintonville, which she operated until her retirement in 1946.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at Christus Lutheran church, Clintonville, with burial in Greenleaf cemetery, Clintonville. Friends may call at the Eberhardt funeral home after 7 o'clock tonight.

Survivors include one daughter, one sister, Mrs. Arthur J. White, Dundee, Ill.; and one granddaughter.

Driver Denies Error In Car-Police Crash

Youth Fined $50 For Hitting Pole, Not Reporting It

Oliver J. Hulewinski, 36, 847 Third street, Menasha, Tuesday denied failing to yield the right-of-way to an emergency vehicle and posted $53.50 bond for trial April 8.

Hulewinski was charged after his car collided with a police motorcycle Saturday afternoon, injuring Patrolman John Van Bommel. Van Bommel received bruises and his cycle was damaged.

Robert Schock, 18, formerly of 1048 W. Spencer street, was fined $50 for hitting a telephone pole at S. Prospect avenue and S. Douglas street and not reporting it to the owner. Schock was charged last September but just finished serving a term in Winnebago county jail for numerous charges, stemming from a wild chase last Sept. 4.

Schock was taken into custody after he led a Winnebago county traffic policeman on a chase on and in the ditch along Highway 41, ending against the telephone pole in Appleton. He fled from his car and was found along the Chicago and North Western railroad right-of-way outside the city limits.

Carl Wettengel Named to Head State Bureau

Governor Appoints Former Appleton Man To $12,000 Position

A former Appleton man, Carl Wettengel, Madison, has been named director of the new state bureau of personnel by Gov. Vernon Thomson a few hours after a member of the board of personnel criticized the governor for leaving the post open since September.

In naming Wettengel to the $12,000-a-year post, Thomson by-passed Francis J. Walsh who had served as acting director since Volmer H. Sorenson resigned last September. In a preliminary examination Walsh received the highest score with 93 and Wettengel second with 91 points. Third was Arthur J. Kurtz with 85 points.

Early Criticisms
The appointment was prompted by criticisms leveled earlier in the day by Charles Brecher, Janesville. Said Brecher, "What I don't like about it (the delay) is that the governor doesn't see fit to give us a head man. I've told him that. It will warm up, too, if we wait long enough."

Wettengel, 46, a Lawrence college graduate, has been senior personnel assistant for the Wisconsin Power and Light company since 1934. Prior to that he was personnel officer at the Veterans Administration hospital, Madison, personnel officer at the VA regional office and served on the city of Madison personnel board for five years.

He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Wettengel, Appleton.

Minor Damage at Store When Fire Sprinkler Breaks

Minor damage was reported in J. C. Prange company's second floor shoe department about 1:15 Tuesday afternoon, after a defective sprinkler showered water from the ceiling.

William Pifer, store manager, said the cold weather may have had something to do with making the sprinkler, a fire protection device, defective.

Firemen were called as a result of the sprinkler setting off the automatic fire alarm system. They were recalled about 3:25 when the sprinkler was put back in working order.

Chimney Fire

Appleton firemen put out a chimney fire at the 2-family dwelling of Mrs. Anna Bayer and Henry Van Ryzin, 116 W. Wisconsin avenue, about 6:47 Tuesday night.

Hoffmann funeral home, Chilton, after noon Thursday.

Besides her daughter, she is survived by two sons, Fred, Chilton, and Lloyd, Woodchester; one brother, George Fraedrichs, Thiensville, and seven grandchildren.

Breck Services

Funeral services for Mrs. Lena Breck, 90, Clintonville, who died Saturday at Clintonville after a long illness, were held Tuesday at Waseca, Minn.

She came to Clintonville about four years ago and lived with her daughter, Mrs. Gust Adams. She was born Aug. 15, 1868, in Norway and came to the United States at the age of 22.

The Eberhardt funeral home handled local arrangements.

Survivors in addition to Mrs. Adams include another daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Gordon, Niles, Calif., and four sons, Andrew, Theodore, Benjamin and Joseph, all of Waseca.

Armed Services Retired Officers To Form Chapter

Armed services retired officers and warrant officers will meet at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Feb. 23, at Pennings hall, St. Norbert college, W. DePere, to organize a chapter of the Retired Officers association.

Membership will be open to men and women who are or have been commissioned officers or warrant officers of the army, navy, air force, marine corps, coast guard, coast and geodetic survey, and public health service. Persons on the retired lists are considered full members while those who have military status but are not retired become associate members.

A chapter constitution will be acted upon, officers elected, dues set and meeting dates established.

Arrangements for the first meeting are being made by Col. Ansel M. Keefe, retired Wisconsin National Guard chaplain, and St. Norbert college professor.

Pella Town Chairman Collapses at Marion Church Meeting, Dies

Alvin A. Ewald, 57, Shawano county supervisor from the town of Pella, collapsed at a church softball league meeting in Marion Monday night and died later at a Clintonville hospital. He had a heart condition.

He was attending a softball league meeting at the Evangelical United Brethren church. Ewald served as a school board member for 24 years until he resigned three years ago. He was born April 14, 1900, in the town of Pella.

Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Marion E. C. B. church with burial in Greenleaf cemetery in that city. Friends may call at the Uttermark funeral home, Marion, until Thursday noon and then at the church.

Survivors include his wife; his mother, Mrs. Lydia Ewald, town of Pella; one brother, Carl Ewald, town of Larrabee, Waupaca county; and one sister, Mrs. Arthur Steege, Clintonville.

The public is invited to attend the program, Micheln said.

400 Singers To Take Part in Junior Concert

About 400 young people from six Protestant churches will participate in the annual junior choir festival to be held at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in First Methodist church. All churches taking part are members of the Appleton Ministerial association.

The first festival was begun eight years ago with 75 children participating but has grown so rapidly it was felt singers must be limited to churches from the association.

Churches and choir directors are All Saints Episcopal, Mrs. Edwin Webster; Emmanuel Evangelical United Brethren, Mrs. Eugene Brinkman; First Congregational, Mrs. LaVahn Maesch; First Methodist, Mrs. Harlan Kirk; Memorial Presbyterian, Mrs. Winton Schumaker; Trinity Lutheran, Mrs. Jerome Otteson and Mrs. Leonard Warner.

Guest conductor will be Edgar Turrentine and Mrs. Franklin Schlacter will be organist.

Legion Sponsors Youth Oratorical Contest Thursday

Seven youths will compete for honors in the Ninth District American Legion Oratorical contest at Lawrence college Main hall at 8 o'clock Thursday night. Louis Micheln, contest chairman, said today.

Presenting patriotic talks will be David McIntyre, Appleton; Dwight Bastian, Kaukauna; Judy Koenen, Wrightstown; Milton Main, Seymour; Carole Quirk, Antigo; Carol Griesse, Kimberly; and Donald Van Zee-land, Little Chute.

Judges are Col. Woodrow Nold, Maj. Raymond Gallagher, Capt. Parley Banks, all attached to the Lawrence college air force officer training program and Cadet Lt. Robert Swain.

The public is invited to attend the program, Micheln said.

Planning for the Mantovani Concert, which will be heard at Appleton High school auditorium at 8:15 Tuesday night, Feb. 25, has been under the direction of Mrs. Donald J. MacDonald, left and Mrs. Charles Dostal, general co-chairman of the Benefit circle of King's Daughters project. The concert is being sponsored by the Benefit circle as a fund-raising project for its varied charitable work. The general ticket sale for the concert began Monday. (Post-Crescent Photo)

KD Circle Completes Plans For Mantovani Concert

Final arrangements for the Feb. 25 Mantovani concert, which is being sponsored by the Benefit circle of King's Daughters as a major fund-raising project, were completed by Mrs. Donald J. MacDonald and Mrs. Charles L. Dostal, co-chairmen of the project, and their committees at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. Otto Schultz, 207 N. Green Bay street.

Assisting the Mmes. MacDonald and Dostal with concert plans are committee chairman: the Mmes. Talbot Peterson and Robert DeCock, program: James Gmeiner and William Siekman, patrons: William Playman and Schultz, tickets: James Fernal, publicity.

Members of the various concert committees are the Mmes. Joseph Marston, Abbott Byfield, Russell Berggren, Vincent Jones, Sidney Dutcher and Miss Lucille Kohl.

The circle, which has sponsored performances by a major musical group on several occasions, is bringing Mantovani and his orchestra of 45 to Appleton for a concert at 8:15 Tuesday night, Feb. 25, at the Appleton High school auditorium.

The general sale of tickets for the concert began Monday at Bellings Drug store. Mail orders for tickets have been accepted by the circle since Jan. 25.

Mantovani, who will be making his first appearance in Appleton, has gained fame as a concert figure whose music offers something for everybody, regardless of what their taste in music may be. One of the foremost exponents of light music, the Venetian-born conductor brings a new brilliance to the light orchestral sphere by using the existing instrumental resources and without introducing multi-taping or similar complicated processes.

The Benefit circle, which was organized in Appleton in 1942, has in past years brought such groups as the Chicago Symphony and Minneapolis Symphony to the city for concerts. The last concert was held in February, 1955, and the major portion of proceeds used for the Community Blood Center which was being set up at that time. A portable iron lung was purchased with proceeds of a concert by the Minneapolis Symphony in 1953.

In Good Taste Invitation Spells Social Obligation

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: If I cannot accept an invitation to a bridge luncheon, (1) do I still "owe" this hostess an invitation, and must I invite her to a similar party? (2) Also, I never know whether it is proper to ask a less intimate friend the second time if she has refused the first invitation, or if according to etiquette I must let the next invitation come from her?

Answer: (1) According to etiquette, the invitation, even though not accepted, incurs an obligation which you ought to return, if you can. This return need not be an invitation in kind. (2) Certainly you may ask one who is in any degree a friend, as often as you choose. But you naturally would not continue to ask those who have given no evidence that their feelings toward you are especially friendly.

Taxi Fare
Dear Mrs. Post: When a gentleman sees a lady into a taxi, should he pay the driver or give her the money to pay him?

Answer: If he had invited her to go out with him and then for some unavoidable reason he could not see her home, it would be proper to pay the driver and give him the address. But if he is merely a fellow guest at a party and, happening to leave at the same time, calls a taxi for her, he must not do anything about her fare. He shuts the door and says good night and that is all.

Entertained at Family Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. George Novaski, route 2, Clintonville, entertained at dinner Sunday in honor of their son and new daughter-in-law, Specialist and Mrs. Francis Novaski, who were wed Feb. 4 at Meridian, Miss.

Classic, Romantic Works on Program

A challenging program featuring highlights from the classical and romantic repertoire has been announced for Stanley Babin's concert at 8:30 Thursday night at Lawrence Memorial chapel.

Presented under the auspices of the Lawrence Community Artist Series, the 25-year-old Latvian-born and American-trained performer will open his program with one of Haydn's most substantial piano sonatas, No. 1 in E flat major. Though listed as No. 1 in most editions, it is actually his last work in this form and is unexcelled among his keyboard sonatas in originality, expressive, detail and high spirits.

Chopin Ballads
Concluding the first half of the program will be the four Chopin Ballads. Containing some of Chopin's most poetic and inspired ideas, they range from gentle sentiment to fiery brilliance.

The second half of the program features Schumann's "Kinderszenen" (Scenes from Childhood) and Brahms' "Paganini Variations." The Schumann work, a series of intimate impressions from a child's life, contains some of the composer's best known melodies, such as the familiar "Traumerei." The Brahms work consists of two sets of variations based on the famous Paganini caprice which was similarly treated by Liszt and by Rachmaninoff in his famous piano-orchestra work "Rhapsody on a Theme by Paganini."

Program For Evening
The complete program is as follows:

Sonata in E flat major Haydn
The Four Ballades Chopin
G minor, Op. 23
F major, Op. 38
A flat major, Op. 47
F minor, Op. 52
Kinderszenen, Op. 15 Schumann

Variations on a Theme of Paganini Brahms
(Books I and II)
Tickets are available at Bell's and will be sold at the door before the concert.

Mother Does Young Girl Favor When She Insists on Orderliness

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I'm a girl 10 years old and I have a terrible problem. My grandmother lives with us. She has been in our house ever since I can remember. My mother yells at me all the time and says I am sloppy. She makes me hang up my wraps the minute I come into the house. She is very strict about little things that don't make any difference.

My grandmother thinks my mother is wrecking my life by hollering at me so much. Will you please give your opinion in the paper, so everybody in the family will see it? My father says we are three generations of leaping Lenas and he is sick of the noise.—PICKED ON

Your grandmother is probably wrecking your mother's life by interfering with your upbringing. It is your mother's responsibility to administer the discipline and to let you know what's expected. I'm sure your grandmother means well, but she reared her daughter and now she should let your mother enjoy the same privilege.

Mom is really doing you a big favor by insisting that you be neat. It would be a lot easier for her to collapse and let you grow up to be a slob. The mother who has the stamina to stick with it, and insists on orderliness, is really the hero of the day. I say three cheers for Mom, and so will you—but not for about 15 years yet!

DEAR ANN: The letter sign-

VFW Auxiliary Has Inspection Night Program

Mrs. William Dufano, Two Rivers, 8th district president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary, and Miss Eloise Sterckx, Green Bay, district conductress, visited the Appleton VFW auxiliary for an inspection program at the clubhouse Tuesday night. Mrs. Frances Wisniewski, Two Rivers auxiliary president, also was a guest for the meeting which began with a potluck supper.

The losing team is a recent membership contest gave the supper for members of the winning team. Handling arrangements were the Mmes. Donald Manier, C. M. Thompson, Allan Stabe, Orville Munster, F. Robert Volkman and Fred Peske.

Two new members were welcomed into the group. Mrs. Dufano in a brief address urged the auxiliary to keep its membership large and to become civil defense-minded.

The auxiliary will be host to the VFW post for a birthday party Feb. 22. A potluck supper will be served at 6:30, with an entertainment program, cards and dancing being planned for later.

Lourdes, Lent Topics at Meeting

A program on Lourdes and lent observances was presented at a meeting of the St. Joseph Christian Mothers Tuesday night at the school cafeteria. The Rev. Kenneth Barnes, OFM, Cap., discussed the meaning of the distribution of ashes on Ash Wednesday and a recording of lent hymns, as sung by the St. Lawrence seminary choir, was heard.

As Tuesday's meeting marked the 100th anniversary of the first apparition of the Blessed Virgin to Bernadette at Lourdes, four members gave brief talks on Lourdes. Books on this topic were also displayed.

District Two was in charge of the social and at cards, winners were the Mmes. Gerald Loper, Ray Heegeman and Frank Manderfield, schafskopf, and the Mmes. Cyril Goffin and Dale Coley, bridge. Mrs. Manderfield won the evening's special prize.

St. Pius Unit Holds Program

Neighborhood committees to handle various church projects of the new St. Pius X congregation were discussed by the St. Pius X Altar Society-Christian Mothers at a regular monthly meeting Tuesday night at St. Therese school hall.

Program events included a talk by James Otto, co-chairman of a box social for parish couples at 6:30 Sunday night at St. Joseph school hall, and a discussion on the sacrament of the Holy Eucharist by the Rev. Richard Keller, pastor, who accompanied his speech with slides.

Social committee for the evening was comprised of the Mmes. Jack Joosten, chairman, Clarence Van Ryzin, Henry Janssen, Steve Farrell, Anton Knappell, Ray Fallon, Andrew Parnell, August Manci and Lawrence Mauthe.

Organize Catholic Discussion Club

A new study club, which will be known as Our Lady of Lourdes Discussion Club, was organized Tuesday night at a meeting at the home of Miss Marie Haag, who will serve as discussion leader. Miss Ger-Baekes will be secretary. The club, which now has eight members, will meet weekly to study the sacrifice of the mass.

We have four married children and five grandchildren. Naturally I am kept busy, seeing them all and baby-sitting. It is the greatest pleasure of my life. But of course I don't love my husband any less for that. I am always home for dinner and ready to go places with him.

My husband calls home several times a day and is furious if he doesn't get me in. He resents it when I talk about our grandchildren and takes very little interest in them.

Hubert F. — I love our grandchildren just as well as my wife does — but I can't see making a career out of it. Kids are just kids, cute and all of that, but what's the big deal about?

I had looked forward to this time of our lives to enjoy things together. I am in the lucky position where I can arrange my working hours to suit myself. Sometimes I feel like taking an afternoon off. But can I enjoy it with my wife? No!

Clara points out that she is always home for dinner, but it looks to me as though this is just a matter of duty with her. Often she has admitted she is too tired at the end of the day even to talk. When she does talk, it's all just the kids and

Our Children

Laughter Is Wonderful Tonic for Youngsters

BY ANGELO PATRI

The younger children are, the more they love to laugh. They should be encouraged to do so, for laughter is tonic to their bodies and minds.

To the grownups, who see and hear their humorous remarks and hear their gales of laughter, they seem downright silly.

Then 10-year-olds improve on the pattern by telling each other "funny" stories, asking ridiculous riddles and the like. It may be the last one he heard on the radio, or an ancient one he overheard someone telling, but he will recite his own version and his group will shout with laughter. That's a signal for him to tell at least the "funny" part over again to the joy of the crowd.

Therapeutic Value

All this is harmless though the repetition and the noise may annoy the captive adult audience. For the children it is therapeutic. They are forgetting their troubles for the moment. The adult world is for the time not pressing on them. They are carefree and at peace.

The funny sheet in the daily newspaper gives the children a lot of pleasure. Often the joke is beyond them but they enjoy the humor of the pictures and make their own interpretations and that is not a bad exercise at all.

They like to talk about the characters on the sheet and the wise parent listens and joins in the conversation. Laughing together is one of the happiest and most precious experiences of family life. What they laughed at is going to stay with the children for years and years to live an otherwise heavy hour.

There is a necessary difference between laughing and giggling that must be recognized. One laughs at something but one can and often does giggle at nothing and less than nothing sometimes as when the giggle covers what might better be passed unnoticed. When children giggle give them something to do that separates the giggles and changes the direction of their thoughts.

But encourage children to see the funny side of things, of people and their ways, of life in general, because that will make the hard facts of daily existence easier for them to take.

Same Frigid Forecast for Fox Cities Area

It's getting monotonous, but here's the latest frigid forecast for the Fox Cities and the rest of the state:

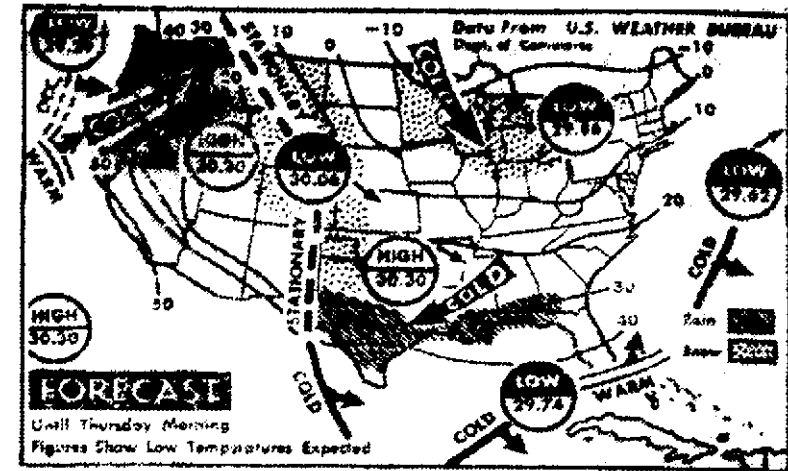

Continued told today, tonight and Thursday.

Wisconsin is not alone in its sub-zero suffering. A huge high pressure area extends through Canada and over the top of the world into Siberia and China. So the chances for an early break-up of the cold spell appear slim, the weatherman said today.

Today's early temperatures, however, were slightly above zero for the first time since Feb. 7. A covering of clouds which brought scattered light snow during the night, kept the readings at a higher level.

At Appletan

Appletan's lowest point since Tuesday was 3 above zero with Tuesday's maximum at 9 degrees. The temperature was 12 degrees at 11 o'clock this morning.

A Warming Trend Will be noted tonight in the central Atlantic states. Snow is forecast for the northern Appalachians, the Lakes area, the upper Mississippi valley, northern Texas, the northern and central Rockies and the western sections of the northern and central plains. Rain will fall along the Gulf coast, in the Cascades, in the north and central plains and on the Pacific coast from central California north. (AP Wirephoto)

Ailing House Mend Older Rugs With Press Tape

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Question: Can I repair a small tear in an Oriental rug?

Answer: If the rug is a good one, I recommend your taking it to a professional rug mender (consult classified telephone directory). If the rug is worn and not of great value, you may be able to mend it yourself by applying press-on rug tape on the wrong side. Available at most variety stores.

Question: Can lacquer thinner be used for removing lacquer from linoleum?

Answer: Lacquer thinner (acetone) or a prepared paint remover can be used for lacquer remover. Apply either of these liquids on a small section of the linoleum and as soon as the lacquer has softened, remove it with steel wool. Wash the area immediately with mild soap and warm water; then rinse with clear water and wipe dry. Do not allow the lacquer thinner or paint remover to remain on the linoleum longer than necessary, for such liquids may damage the surface. When the floor is clean, avoid having it walked on for eight hours or more. Polish with a good grade of wax. Be careful to work in a well-ventilated room, with all flames extinguished, as both preparations are inflammable.

Powdering Paint

Question: The white paint on my house seems to come off easily when it is touched. What causes it to powder this way? Can a new coat of paint be applied over it?

Answer: Paint that powders soon after it has been applied is of poor quality; but if the paint has been exposed to the weather for a year or more, the powdering is normal. If the paint film is secure and there is no peeling or blistering, a chalky surface leaves an excellent base for new paint. Just should be brushed off before new paint is applied.

Beauty Woman 35 Should Try Short Hair-Do

By Marian Matthews

Question—My hair is long but I want to have it cut short. I am 35 years old and wonder what length would be considered good. I don't think I would like a long bob.

Answer—You are right: a long coiffure would probably not be as becoming as a shorter cut. Why not have a short hair-do with hair just a few inches long in back and perhaps slightly longer on top so that it can be softly curled or waved for a higher line at top (if this is flattering). Sides waved and kept close to the head might be becoming too or you might find a slight turn of the hair back of the ears easier to wear. Talk to a good hair stylist about the possibilities of different cuts for you.

With White Hair

Question—I have been told I should wear darker make-up because my hair is almost white. What do you feel about cosmetic tones for white hair?

Answer—I believe it is easy to fall into the habit of using pale make-up when hair is white and it might be becoming if it has warm undertones. In other words, try something with a pink undertone and wear a little rouge if it helps. Be careful, however, of the latter or it might be too artificial. Practice is the only way to achieve the right effect. Select warm tones of lipstick too.

Spencer Man Gets Prison Term for Obtaining Dope

Green Bay—Robert F. Pilz, 36, Spencer, who obtained narcotics in the Fox River Valley by posing as a physician, Tuesday was sentenced to the state penitentiary at Waupun for three years. He was sentenced in Green Bay municipal court to three years on three narcotics charges, three years on a forgery charge and one year on a room rent fraud charge. All the terms are concurrent.

The narcotics charges were from Green Bay, Appletan and Fond du Lac.

Pilz obtained the narcotics by calling druggists and giving the name of a physician and an address to which the narcotic was to be delivered. He would wait outside the address and intercept the delivery man, taking the narcotic without a prescription for it.

Pilz was captured in Vausau and returned to Brown county for prosecution on local and other county complaints.

Frankly, this is the biggest event in the year for us! We have worked hard at it with the primary thought in mind to save you money. Some of the stock on sale is not up to par... there is in some instances slight damage to fabrics and finishes. Some items are discontinued. Others, for one reason or another have not sold. Whatever the reason, prices are slashed. We urge you to attend this sale and see what real mark-downs look like. Remember we don't hold a sale every two weeks and try to make you believe we are saving you money. This event is once a year! It is a sale on high grade merchandise! Every item is out of our regular stock! We use no 'bait merchandise' to bring you into the store. To make the sale bigger and better we have reduced almost every article in the store. Your selection is not limited to "dogs"!

Firemen From Three Cities Fought a stubborn blaze among rag wastes warehoused by Meyer Burstein and Sons company in a building behind St. Thomas Episcopal church in Menasha this morning. Neenah and Appleton departments helped Menasha to bring the blaze, highlighted by dense smoke and flames leaping as high as 20 feet into the air, under control. Cause of the fire, which was discovered shortly before 8 o'clock this morning, was not immediately known. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Bloodmobile Misses Quota, Colds Blamed

Falls 59 Pints Short of 240 Donation Goal

Menasha — A wave of colds kept down this week's donations at the Red Cross bloodmobile. Mrs. W. B. Bellack announced this morning. Only 181 pints of blood were donated, three gallons short of the 240-pint quota were donated, three gallons short of the goal.

Donors on Monday gave 123 pints and on Tuesday gave 58 pints. The next bloodmobile visit in Menasha will be in April. The Red Cross unit will visit Neenah on the first day and 37 home on the second day. A total of 59 walk-in donors, 28 of them Monday and 31 on Tuesday, helped bring up the total.

Two donors reached their second gallon with this week's visit. They are John Radley and 841 Second street, Menasha, and Hugh Van Airdale, both of and Walter Maciejewski, 836 of the second building, which is brick and is 32 by 40 feet, were badly damaged.

Another building owned by the Rosenthals and located 15 feet away from the burning buildings, is expected to be saved. Rags are also stored in this building which is rented by the Max Liess company.

Firemen, hampered by freezing weather, were unable to soak the buildings thoroughly. Water shot at the outside of the buildings froze almost immediately.

Traffic was halted and detoured in a three block area on N. Commercial street in Neenah and Washington street in Menasha.

The buildings were built by the late Barney Rosenthal during World War I. There is a furnace in the building where the fire started but it had not been used in several years.

Power Shut Off

Because electric power was shut off in the area around the fire, the annual mid-winter conference of the women's auxiliary of the Episcopal church, held at St. Thomas church had to be transferred to the Masonic temple.

Max Liess and St. Patrick's church provided coffee and refreshments for the firemen and policemen this morning and the Menasha Red Cross provided coffee and food this afternoon.

The contents of the buildings were to be removed this afternoon to prevent further fires. Menasha firemen are expected to stay at the scene until late this evening.

This is the third major fire to strike the Meyer Burstein company. In March, 1956, the office and a warehouse owned by the company in Neenah were destroyed by fire and the top of the company's factory building on Manitowish street, Menasha, was burned off in December, 1949.

The loss two years ago was set at $200,000. Firemen from four cities fought the blaze and one and a half million gallons of water were used to quell the fire. Officials described it as "one of the worst fires in Neenah's history."

Spending Won't Insure Security, Republicans Told

Michigan Congressman Warns of 'Spendthrift Hitchhikers on Sputnik'

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — "Do not rely too heavily on salvation by appropriation alone and beware of would-be spendthrift hitchhikers on sputnik," Rep. August E. Johansen of Michigan warned in his Lincoln day talk to Sixth district Republicans here Tuesday night.

He reminded his several hundred listeners of Lenin's boast that America would be destroyed by bankruptcy.

Workshop for Handicapped Council Topic

Board President To Speak Tuesday to Community Group

Menasha — The story of the Fox Valley Sheltered Workshop will be told to members of the Neenah-Menasha Community Council Tuesday noon by L. C. Smith, president of the FVSW board and industrial relations director of the Thi-Many Pulp and Paper company, Kaukauna.

The workshop, in operation since last spring, has been working on contracts obtained from area industries and has employed as many as 16 handicapped persons at one time under the direction of George Kuchel, manager.

Production facilities include drill presses, electric arc welders, electric hand tools, stapling machines, sewing machines and heat sealers.

Nine area industries currently have work contracts with the workshop. All workers are covered by social security, wage and hour laws and workman's compensation. All have qualified for work with the Wisconsin State Employment service. The workshop was established with funds donated by industry, civic and fraternal organizations and interested individuals and groups.

The meeting is open to the public and reservations can be made with the Community Council office.

was burned off in December, 1949.

needed rebuke to our complacency, successful launching of our own satellite should be an equally effective rebuke to those of little faith in our midst who seemed almost eager to sell American short," the congressman continued.

While there is no disposition in congress or among the American people to withhold any resource of wealth necessary for security and defense, "let us not succumb to a fatalistic faith in 'salvation by appropriation.'" It is not how many billions are spent for defense but how wisely those billions are used that is important," he told the group.

He cited one of his deepest anxieties is the peril of neo-isolationism wherein, through no choice of its own, the country may find itself completely alone and isolated if a final military showdown comes. Just as the British had a plan before Dunkirk as what to do in a certain eventuality, "it is imperative that there be today an equivalent 'American Strategy in a Certain Eventuality.'"

Hits Foreign Aid

Such a strategy would be far more relevant to national security and survival, he thought, to "voting more billions upon billions, more good money to follow bad, in foreign aid programs which in many instances will no more buy us security."

$20,614 Low Bid for New Fire Truck

Neenah — American-LaFrance-Pamite, Inc., offered the lowest of four bids for Neenah's new fire truck to the council's public protection committee Tuesday night. A cost of $20,614 was estimated by the Elmira, N.Y., firm for a 215-horsepower engine for the city's new southwest side fire station.

Peter Pirsch and Sons, Inc., Kenosha, offered a bid of $20,990 for a 250-horsepower engine and Seagrave, Inc., Columbus, Ohio, offered bids of $20,750 and $21,000 for 215 and 251-horsepower engines, respectively.

The city council will probably award a contract for the engine at its meeting next Wednesday.

Church, School Groups Stress Brotherhood

Pastors Use Theme For Sermons; Clubs Schedule Speakers

Neenah — Although observance of Brotherhood week is scheduled for next week, some organizations have been extending the theme to cover a long period. Several pastors used the brotherhood theme for their sermons last Sunday and others will be using it next Sunday.

It also was used as the theme of the Westminster Youth Fellowship programs both last Sunday and next Sunday at the First Presbyterian church.

At St. Margaret Mary school "Good Citizenship club" meetings include discussion of dependence upon other persons for more than material goods, necessity for truth and moral responsibility for justice and charity in the dealing of nations with one another and the equality of all men in the sight of God.

Students also are making posters to illustrate the obligations in understanding other fellow men. The eighth grade is presenting a play "A Change of Heart" to the other rooms.

Maurice Terry, state director for Brotherhood week, will speak to the Neenah-Menasha Optimists club Tuesday noon and Rabbi Gilbert Silverstein, Appleton, will speak to the Neenah Rotary club.

Neenah Man Injured In County Collision

Oshkosh — Paul L. Fleischman, 40, 605 Hansen street, Neenah, complained of a sore neck and was to see a physician after his car was involved in an accident on County Highway A in the town of Vinland at 4:30 Tuesday afternoon.

Fleischman's car was struck by the rear of a car driven by Eugene Edminster, 29, Omro,

Library Circulates 229,300 Books in 1957

More Than Half Distributed Among 3,811 Children

Neenah — The public library circulated nearly a quarter million books during 1957, according to the annual report of Miss May Hart, head librarian. Of the total of 229,330 volumes, 92,066 books were circulated among adults and the balance among youngsters.

Children borrowed 98,197 from the children's division of the main library according to the report. The Wilson school branch of the children's library loaned 18,792, the Hoover school branch 10,000, the McKinley school branch 7,796 and the Taft school branch, which was in operation since September, 2,399 books.

A total of 1,648 new borrowings, including 953 adults and 695 children, registered on the library rolls in 1957. This brought the total number of borrowers up to 8,710, of which 5,272 are adults and 3,438 are children.

The library purchased 1,762 adult volumes and 2,049 chil-

Former Menasha Resident's Son Dies in Milwaukee

Neenah — A former Menasha woman's 5-year-old son was killed in Milwaukee Monday afternoon when he was crushed by the rear wheels of a bus.

Gregory Ray Stuber, son of the former Shirley LaBouton of Menasha, became the fifth traffic death of the year in Milwaukee county.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Stuber, his grandmother, Mrs. Harriet LaBouton, 418 Clark street, Neenah; his grandfather, Julius LaBouton, 320 Grandview avenue, Menasha; and a brother, Rodrick, at home.

Pennies Count

As proof that pennies do count, a total of $1,539.83 was collected in fines for overdue books. Book rentals totaling $115.68 were also taken in in 1957.

The library staff answered 1,110 reference questions during the year, most of them over the telephone. Over 10,000 patron visits were recorded in the library according to reference room facilities. During the year four librarians made 136 visits to four elementary schools and circulated 39,067 books. One librarian made four visits each to Kinberly Junior High school, Neenah High school, St. Margaret Mary school and Trinity Lutheran school to give book talks to the students. The library also helped parents plan reading programs for their children and helped book clubs find material for their reviews.

Miss Hart reminded patrons that the library has lots of information and is happy to share it with the people of Neenah. A phone call can find a fact, or publications like the Wall Street Journal and the Moody Investment Service can provide the many facets to a complicated story. A large supply of maps and magazines is also at the disposal of Neenah patrons, she said.

County Librarians Hold Oshkosh Luncheon Event

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — The fourth annual county homemakers librarians luncheon was held Tuesday at the Raulf hotel. Oshkosh, with Mrs. A. L. Anderson, county librarian, and Mrs. Lydia Winkelbauer in charge of the program.

The importance of knowing the characteristics and problems of the pre-adolescent were discussed by Miss Viola Hunt, Madison, family life specialist, at a joint meeting of the Community Mothers and Friendly Mothers child study groups Tuesday evening at the Allenville Baptist church. Miss Hunt said it is necessary for children in this age group to "be like the gang" and encouraged the group to have a library period at each meeting of identifying themselves. A and to send books home with film, "Age of Turmoil," was the homemakers. Comments on the reading program were given by Miss Lois Klusmeyer, members served as hostesses.

12 Elected to Church Council

Neenah — Twelve members of the new St. Mark's Lutheran church were named to the first church council at a congregation meeting Sunday afternoon. They will be installed at the formal organization of the church next Sunday morning.

Tops Club Crowns Best Weight Loser

Menasha — Mrs. Esther Jensen was crowned Twin City TOPS club queen at a ceremony Tuesday evening at the Elisha D. Smith library. The queen is selected on the basis of losing the most weight during the past year. Mrs. Jensen lost 53 pounds.

Mrs. Sylvester Gavinski graduated from the TOPS club to the KOPS group, Keep Off Pounds Sensibly. In the third division Mrs. Jensen and Mrs. Emil Warning were the winners and fourth division winners included Mrs. Gavinski and Mrs. Edward Stolla. Winning in the fifth division category were Mrs. Louis Stumpf and Mrs. Gerry Cornelius. Ann Hruska and Julie Wojahn won the awards in the teenage division.

Miss Sandy Sheffer, Oshkosh, sang the TOPS song accompanied by Mrs. George Dufield and five selections were presented by the Kimberlaire chapter of Sweet Adelines, women's barbershop chorus. Honored at the event were Helen Kauth, Appleton, organizer of the club, Mrs. Edward Miller, first leader of the local club, and Mrs. Carl Casperson, present leader. The crowns for the ceremony were made by Mrs. Edward Olski.

Prize winners included Mrs. Ray Wildhagen, Mrs. Warning, Miss Sheffer, Mrs. Mable Schierl, Selma Djupstrom, Ruth Bedore, Mrs. Tillie Fitzpatrick, Ione Becker and Mrs. Jay Schramm.

Gharrity Cops Big Advantage In Scoring Race

Leads Ron Brault
By 27; Don Nelson
Retains 3rd Spot

Menasha — Shawano's Marty Gharrity has opened up a comfortable 27-point lead over Ron Brault of Two Rivers in the Mid - Eastern conference's individual scoring race.

Gharrity collected 20 points in last weekend's upset loss to Menasha and now has 234 for the season. Brault was limited to 13 by Neenah and his composite is now 227.

Don Nelson of Menasha retained third place with 163 points, which included 14 in the win over Shawano, while fourth belongs to John Cantwell of Shawano, with 162. He connected on 15 in the Menasha setback.

John Dahly of Clintonville moved into the fifth spot with his 159 and Jack Lamers of Kimberly is the sixth player with 176.

Replaces Monsour

New London's Dale Monsour twelfth last week, was limited to four points in the Kimberly

Shawano, who replaced by Jim Walsh of Kaukauna, who tallied 14 in the win over Clintonville. Walsh now had 115 points to 109 for the Bulldog cager.

Conference players, on the whole, had a low scoring evening last Friday. Whereas three boys had 30 points in one night earlier in the campaign, Friday's top total was Gharrity's 20, followed by Dahly with 19.

Gharrity leads in the circuit both in field goals and free throws with 89 and 76, respectively. Gordy Selbach of Menasha is the top foulster with 38 while Bob Elsholtz of New London has committed the fewest among the regulars with 10.

The unofficial scoring:

Player	FG	FT	PF	TP
Gharrity, Shawano	89	76	22	254
Brault, Two Rivers	86	53	33	227
Nelson, Menasha	59	45	23	163
Cantwell, Shawano	59	24	26	162
Dahly, Clintonville	56	13	24	159
Lamers, Kimberly	54	48	31	176
Levander, Kimberly	56	43	24	155
Seigrist, Neenah	56	22	25	154
Thompson, Neenah	51	27	25	140
Selbach, Menasha	59	28	38	144
Simon, Kaukauna	45	44	38	134
Walsh, Kaukauna	44	37	32	118

Menasha — Menasha's freshmen bid for their eighth victory in nine Fox Valley Freshman league starts at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Butte des Morts gym with Roosevelt of Appleton providing the opposition.

Neenah, situated in seventh place with a 1-7 slate, clashes with unbeaten Kimberly on the Papermakers' court the same afternoon.

The Jays, who trail the Papermakers by a half game, must win their remaining two games and hope that Kimberly loses one or two along the way, to get into the championship picture.

Menasha recorded a 55-42 win over the Appleton quintet on Dec. 12 in their initial meeting. The Bluejays zoomed out in front 27-8 in the first quarter.

Dave Ristau, who since has moved up to the junior varsity, had 25 points for Menasha and Paul Neuman scored 13 to lead Roosevelt.

Neenah was defeated by Kimberly 55-29 in their meeting on the Rocket court. The Papermakers raced to a 22-6 first period lead. Dave Minten, who is now on the varsity, had 20 points for Kimberly and Tom Rooyakkers tallied 16. Bill Fahrenkrug notched 10 for Neenah.

Menasha's test will be its last home game of the year. It concludes play next week at McKinley. Neenah plays at Kaukauna a week from Thursday and concludes its season with a non-league game the next day at New London.

ity than in many instances they have brought us friends." Applause from his listeners gave approval to that thought.

Applause also greeted his remark that no man had a better understanding of the evils of the communist mind than Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Throughout his talk he drew parallels from Lincoln's time and from Lincoln's speeches, showing how they would fit today's situations.

"Wise, firm relativistic Lincoln knew the disastrous effect which premature 'peace talks' and 'truce hopes' could have on both sound military posture and on ultimate achievement of a genuine and valid peace," Johnson declared and he referred to negotiations Lincoln held with Confederate leaders several weeks before Lee's surrender.

"What tragedies would have been averted for America and the world had similar skill, wisdom and firmness prevailed at Yalta, at Potsdam, and finally, in Korea — in Korea where Harry Truman, that boring after-the-fact know-it-all, undercut and stymied American forces and interests both in combat and in negotiations.

"Diplomatic firmness, skill and adherence to principle are as indispensable to American victory and survival as military might and strategy in an age of atomic blackmail and in the face of an enemy who openly and wickedly boasts that he will lure us to destruction and enslavement by falsely appealing to our peaceful and friendly inclinations."

The Republican congressman supported the stands taken by President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles "who have avoided the hobby-trap of a naively trustful attitude toward Soviet Russia. Today, Secretary Dulles is the target of organized attacks by certain appeasement, peace-at-any-price groups both in America and Europe, including some left-wing elements of the Democratic party."

"How You Got Proxmire"

Fondy Cager Cops Lead in Scoring Race

Menasha — Fond du Lac Springs' Mike Scott has taken over the individual scoring lead in the Fox Valley Catholic conference with 130 points. The scoring totals do not include last night's St. Norbert-Premontré game.

Scott collected 21 points in the win over St. Mary last Thursday night to move into the lead. Sophomore Ed Hammen of St. John, who notched 26 in the Chuters' victory over St. Norbert last week, is second with 126.

Bob Pecotte of Marinette Lourdes, the previous week's leader, is now tied for third place with Bill Nuss of Springs. Both have 110 markers. Pecotte didn't see action in league play last week. The Marinette sophomore has accumulated his total in seven games while Scott, Nuss and Hammen have played in eight.

He was introduced by Rep. William K. Van Pelt of the sixth district who urged getting out the vote or facing a return to the "Roosevelt-Truman program of deficit spending and galloping socialism."

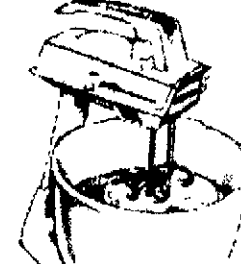

Telegrams were read from President Eisenhower and Governor Thomson and announcement was made of the sixth district caucus at Fond du Lac April 17. Mrs. Robert Murray, Oshkosh, state vice chairwoman, also spoke briefly and urged more activity on the part of the Republican women.

Cold Weather Halts Work on Hy. 41 Project

Pre-Cast Concrete Beams to Be Placed On Spans Next Week

Neenah — Cold weather has stopped progress on the Highway 41 overhead construction because work stops when the temperature drops to zero.

Considerable progress by the Highway Pavers, Inc., crew was made prior to the onset of the zero weather and the construction firm plans to install pre-cast concrete beams between the piers and abutments next week if the weather is warmer.

Two cranes will be used to put the beams into place. These pre-cast concrete beams are among the first to be used in this area and reduce the cost of the overheads about 15 per cent.

Work has been completed on two piers and two abutments at the Highway 114 grade separation and the beams will be put into place between an abutment and pier at each side of the highway.

Will Re-Route Traffic
Later, when traffic may be diverted the present Highway 114 will be lowered four feet and a center pier will be built. The entire area will be graded.

A third of the industrial underpass at Courtney and Plum Street company's yard is completed and the balance to be done awaits the warmer weather. Pre-cast concrete beams 60 feet long will be put into place next week at the Courtney and Plum Street intersection where one abutment and two piers are done and another abutment still is to be erected.

At the Main Street intersection, which is County Trunk 1 foot clearance which is an S, the crews had just started to pour the columns for one pier. At North Street, or Courtney Street, or Courtney Street.

Registrations Being Taken for Dance Classes

Menasha—Registrations still are being accepted for a ballroom dancing class for junior high school students and a beginning square dance class for adults, the Menasha recreation department announced today.

The ballroom dancing class will be held from 7 to 8 o'clock on Thursday nights beginning this week with Mrs. LaRayne Blohm as instructor. The course will last eight weeks and the size of the class will be limited to insure individual as well as group instruction.

The adult square dance class was held for the first time from 8 to 10 o'clock last Thursday night. Final registrations will be taken at Thursday night class.

Two Fined $10 for Disorderly Conduct

Neenah — Two Neenah men were fined $10 and costs for disorderly conduct this morning by Justice of the Peace Mayhew Mott. Fined on their guilty plea were John S. Landstrom, 44, 930 W. Caroline Street, and John W. Schulz, 39, 704 Monroe Street. They were arrested at 10:03 Monday evening in a N. Lake Street tavern where witnesses said they were fighting. The two were held in the Menasha jail until footings had begun.

One abutment and two piers are completed at the Highway 150 grade separation near Spring Road school and the second abutment has had its second pouring and is now being cured with heat. The concrete structure is housed inside a wood and plastic framework which is heated.

Only Highway 114 will have to be lowered for the relocation as the others will not need any changing. There will be a 1 foot clearance which is an S, the crews had just started to pour the columns for one pier. At North Street, or Courtney Street, or Courtney Street.

Bids were opened Jan. 28 for the Soo Line overhead and for the traffic interchanges at the intersections of Highway 41 with County Trunk PP or N. Lake Street and County Trunk BB at the Outagamie county line.

C. R. Meyer and Sons of Oshkosh was the low bidder on that project and also on the two grade separations and interchanges at the Highway 110 and Highway 21 intersection with Highway 41 near Oshkosh. The grading work between the structures has been awarded to the H. F. Bloomer company of Appleton.

The Story Behind Wanserski's Meat Excellence . . .

1. Western Corn-fed Beef

From the heart of the great western corn country comes the finest beef in the world. . . fed a diet of golden corn to produce that superior flavor that characterizes the finest beef. . . At Wanserski's, you are assured only the very best of this beef, for our beef is so carefully selected that only a few of the government graded better cattle meet the rigid standards required of Wanserski's top notch beef.

2. Trimmed of excess bone & fat

Your Wanserski's "Trim-rite" policy gives you more for your money. Excess fat and bone are removed (weight that you would ordinarily pay for but never use). Thus, your meat is prepared for you with just the right layer of pure white fat. You do not pay for waste . . . and you get this same "Trim-rite" service on all cuts of meat at Wanserski's Market.

3. Aged to the Peak of Perfection

In order to get the maximum benefits from aging you must age quality. By selecting only the finest beef, Wanserski's is able to obtain that superior quality that enables you to enjoy the area's finest cuts . . . and without resorting to guessing games when you are selecting meat for your family's table.

Soil Erosion, Drainage Cited To Farm Group

Short Course on Land Management Ends With Dinner

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Control of erosion and drainage of wet lands are most important soil management factors if farmers are going to get the most out of fertilizer applications.
That was the advice of Jack Densmore of the soil conservation service at Madison at a dinner meeting ending the soil management short course sponsored by the county extension office. The meeting was held at the Omro Masonic hall.
Also speaking to the group was John Murdock, a University extension soil specialist, who pointed out those factors go hand in hand with efficiency in production.
Any farmer, if he is going to stay in business, must start out with a soil map which will show the tests on soil samples taken from his field, he suggested.

A farmer also should have a farm plan which is available through the technical service of the soil conservation service. "We can't do much about what we get for our product but we can do a lot about reducing the cost of producing that product," Murdock stressed.

Murdock also said that based on research in the state, sub-soiling may be all right. But, he warned, if the soil is packed with heavy equipment and during a season when the soil is wet in the next year, all the good that may have been done by sub-soiling is counteracted.

County Agent Vernon W. Peroutky pointed out that fertilizer application in tons has practically doubled since 1940 but in the last three years there has been a slight decline in tonnage. On the other hand, there has been an increase in the concentration of elements in every 100-pound bag of fertilizer.

Ten years ago there was an average of 27 units of fertilizer elements available in a 100-pound bag compared to 37 units today. While the figures reflect a decrease in tonnage, the county agent said, there actually is an increase in available elements applied through fertilizer.

The dinner meeting was the last in the series of four classes held in various parts of the county and attendance averaged about 100 at each session. The complimentary dinner was served by the Omro Businessmen's association in cooperation with all licensed fertilizer dealers of the county.

Five Brigadiers Promoted to Pfc.

Neenah — Five seventh grade members of the Boys' Brigade were promoted to privates first class Tuesday evening, after the brigade's mid-year analysis. Raised a notch were Jim McCormick of the Hippos, Peter Sorenson and George Massey of the Bears and Garry Tollefson and Jim K. Johnson of the Squirrels.

Brigadiers are promoted either at mid-year or at the end of the year in recognition of outstanding traits of leadership, initiative, trustworthiness and sportsmanship.

Promotions are also in line for several sixth, ninth and tenth graders next Monday night. No eighth graders were promoted.

Bank Officer Talks to Ripon College Group

Neenah — Robert E. Kay, trust officer of the National Manufacturers bank addressed the Ripon chapter of the American Association of University Professors Monday afternoon at the Ripon college campus on personal income taxes.

Particular emphasis was given by Kay to present income tax deductions as they affect university professors and others in the educational field. He practiced law in Ripon for 12 years prior to joining the National Manufacturers bank.

Former Menashan Helps Save Seven Lives in Philadelphia

Menasha — Miss Geraldine Jersild, a former Menasha resident and a member of Philadelphia's Visiting Nurse society, was cited recently for helping save the lives of seven people in Philadelphia.

The 1953 Menasha High school graduate was making a regular visit to a home in Philadelphia when she found seven members of a family unconscious in their apartment. She immediately called police and it did.

The rescue squad administered ed oxygen until the five children, their mother and grandmother were revived and taken to a hospital. All have been released from the hospital.

Police said their oxygen supply had been consumed by a small kerosene space heater and loan association holdup a few weeks ago.

Miss Jersild, 22, is the daughter of Mrs. Agnes Jersild, 7724 State street, Menasha. She is a 1956 nursing graduate of the Launkenu hospital in Philadelphia.

Change Post Office Contribution Policy

Menasha — In an effort to reduce time spent in separate charity drives by Neenah and Menasha post office employees, they will be asked to contribute to only three annual solicitations from now on. Postmasters John Backes of Menasha and George Rasmussen of Neenah said today. The postmasters have been designated by the federal government to conduct the drives among their employees and other federal employees in the Twin Cities. Each employee may designate how much he wishes to give to each drive.

Three Whiting Children Ask End to Trusts

County Judge Hears Testimony From Heirs Of Late Industrialist

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — County Judge Herbert J. Mueller Tuesday afternoon heard testimony on the request of three heirs of the late Frank B. Whiting, Neenah industrialist, for a termination of the trusts he had set up for them.

The petitioners were George A. Whiting, Fredericka Leech and Isabelle Schroeder, children of the late industrialist who died March 29, 1952.

Separate trusts were set up for each of his three children and each trust was valued at $53,600, according to the petition.

Whiting in his will specified the trusts would terminate at the end of the fifth full calendar year after his death, which was Dec. 31, 1957.

Judge Mueller also received a petition for probate of the estate of the late Minnie Fischer of Neenah who died Jan. 27, leaving an estate of $10,000 in real estate. Hearing on admission of the will was set for March 18.

Listed as heirs were her son, Hector Fischer, Neenah, a daughter, Adeline Bradford, Fond du Lac, and three grandchildren, Hector Fischer, Jr., and David Fischer of Neenah and Gladys Samuel of Fond du Lac.

and George Rasmussen of Neenah said today.

The postmasters have been designated by the federal government to conduct the drives among their employees and other federal employees in the Twin Cities. Each employee may designate how much he wishes to give to each drive.

Finance Outlook To Be Told Clubs

Neenah — Twin City Service clubs will combine for a luncheon meeting Thursday noon at the Valley Inn as guests of the Neenah Rotary club to hear a talk on "The Business Outlook" by Raymond Rodgers, economics and finance professor at New York university.

Rodgers will speak also at a public forum at 7:30 Thursday night at the Presbyterian church Fellowship hall under sponsorship of the National Manufacturers bank. He will discuss the financial and investment outlook.

He is the author of several textbooks and articles in the field of finance, banking and investments and has been on the New York university staff since 1925.

Firemen Extinguish Three Minor Blazes

Neenah — Firemen extinguished a minor fire at the home of Otto Jungenberg, 712 S. Commercial street, shortly after 7 o'clock this morning where an overheated furnace set a wall aflame. Firemen were at the scene for 15 minutes.

Firemen also put out a burning rubbish pile at the Twin City Sheet Metal company, 101 Hewitt street, at 5:17 Tuesday evening and a chimney fire at the home of E. A. Grissom, 142 E. North Water street at noon Tuesday. No damage was reported in either fire.

Twin City Births

Berggren, Pond '5s' Advance to 'Y' Semi-Finals

Win First Round Games in Men's Basketball Meet

Pond Sports and Berggren Sports advanced to the semi-finals of the YMCA Men's league single elimination basketball tournament earlier this week. Pond's tripped Dale Realty, 65-60, as Lloyd "Bud" Koehnke coined 28 points for Pond's and Jim Kirkland hit 19 for Dale Realty.

Berggren's tripped Clark cleaners, 65-50, with George Goemans' 18 points leading the victors. Paul Gehring coined 22 for Clark.

League champion Appleton Motor dropped Leath's furniture, 61-56, in a practice game. In next Monday's semi-finals, Leath's meets Berggren's at 7 o'clock and Appleton Motor plays Pond's at 8 o'clock.

Gresham Tops Bear Creek '5'

Bruins' Affeldt Scores 36 Points in 87-72 Loss

Gresham—Despite a brilliant, 36-point performance by Bear Creek forward Gary Affeldt, the Bruins lost an 87-72 non-conference basketball decision to Gresham High school here Tuesday night.

Affeldt, 5-9 junior forward, fired home 16 baskets and four free throws.

Forward Ken Schultz and Guard Wayne Jeske dumped in more than half of Gresham's total as they scored 25 and 24 points, respectively. Gresham hit 19 out of 23 tries on the gift line while Bear Creek managed only 10 out of 20.

Newsmen, Sports Figures View Pay-as-You-See TV Bout

Chicago—Pay-as-you-see television made its box office debut Tuesday night and it appears only a matter of time before the public has to feed the meter to see certain shows.

A boxing match in which Chicago welterweight Jerry Morrell won a unanimous 8-round decision over Don Alderson of Cannonsburg, Pa., was piped into a downtown hotel and viewed by newsmen and sports figures.

It was the first time in history that the International Boxing club—sponsor of the Wednesday and Friday night fights—used the closed wire, pay-as-you-see system.

Screen Goes Blank

For purposes of demonstration, the audience was told it could have a choice of a modern movie at the cost of 85 cents, a basketball game for 50 cents or the fight, which also cost 50 cents.

The preliminaries of the fight were seen at no charge. Then a man appeared on the screen and announced it would cost 50 cents—to be deposited in the meter—to watch the main event. The screen went blank, 50 cents was dropped into the meter and the show was on.

The picture was the same as free television.

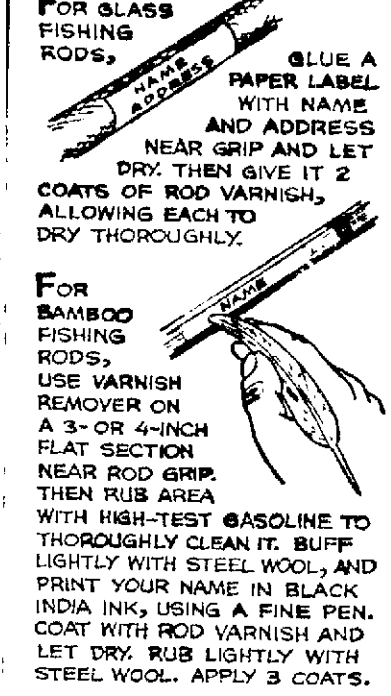

The pay-as-you-see organization now hopes to establish unnamed centers on the West and East coasts for experimental purposes.

Truman Gibson, IBC secretary, said the project probably will be available on a nationwide basis to the public in "about two years." Putting meters on individual sets will be the time consuming factor.

"These experiments will not interfere in any manner with the regularly scheduled Wednesday and Friday night free boxing TV shows," said Gibson.

Floyd Meyer Rumbles 584

Bob Griffith Hits 576 Threesome in Hortonville Loop

Floyd Meyer's 584 led the way in the most recent edition of Dairy Couples league bowling at Twelve Corners.

Bob Griffith shot the top threesome, a 576, in the Country Cousins league at Hortonville. His 235 game also paced that circuit. Dick Walker topped the most substantial threesome, a 564, in the Freedom National loop.

Top count in the Freedom American wheel was Don Vandenberg's 558.

Lorna Pekarske's 193 and 523 scores showed the way in the Flower league. Donna Herzfeld cleaned up honors in Hortonville's Thursday evening Women's circuit with tallies of 180 and 484.

Radovich Suit Is Postponed To April 14

San Francisco—The anti-trust suit brought by William Radovich, former professional football player, against the National Football league, was postponed Tuesday from March 10 to April 14.

U. S. District Judge George B. Harris granted the continuance because Bert Bell, league commissioner, was too ill to come from his Philadelphia headquarters.

NFL attorney Marshall E. Leahy told the court Bell's doctors say the commissioner is under treatment for hypertension and shouldn't be away from Philadelphia for the length of time it would take to try the case.

Radovich, 42, of Los Angeles, is suing the NFL for $105,000 damages. He charges the De-

Reds Think Ike Holds Plenary Summit Power

Soviet Heads Forget U. S. Senate Must Okay All Agreements

WASHINGTON—Can there really be a "summit" conference as the Soviet rulers envisage it? Can there be any agreements reached at such a meeting that are binding on the United States?

The Kremlin today is assuming that, when President Eisenhower goes to a "summit" conference, he has plenary power—that he can make a "deal." Not a word has been said in any of the exchanges of letters thus far about the fact that, under the American system of government, the "summit" is not reached when the president alone participates. For the United States senate is not bound by what a president pledges.

At the Yalta conference in 1945, the records show, Stalin discussed this very point with the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. At one time the communist dictator questioned what authority Roosevelt had and of what value any agreement would be, since no president can commit the senate.

Stalin cited the case of President Wilson, who attended a "summit" conference in Paris in 1919 and signed the Versailles treaty, which never was ratified by the senate. Indeed, just before Wilson sailed for Europe in December 1918, a large number of senators signed a "round robin" publicly warning foreign governments that a president of the United States cannot commit the United States senate to any action.

Concedes Point

Roosevelt, in his conversations with Stalin, conceded the point that no president could make any agreement relative to substantive matters such as boundaries of territory or matters involving treaty commitments to insure, for example, participation in the United Nations then being proposed.

The press has been filled in recent weeks with dispatches from abroad indicating that the Soviet government is undertaking now to tell the United States just what kind of conference will be permitted, and it has been made plain that the Moscow leaders do not want the foreign ministers to hold a session in advance of the "summit" meeting for fear it would reveal the impossibility of any agreements being subsequently reached. So Secretary Dulles himself, anxious to remove any technical obstacles, has just announced that a foreign ministers conference isn't necessary.

Stockbridge Loses, 72-36, to Cedar Grove

Cedar Grove—Stockbridge High school took it on the chin 72-36, from Cedar Grove in a Kettle Moraine conference game here Tuesday night.

Cedar Grove got off to a fast, 39-19 halftime lead, and an extremely cold third period for Stockbridge—in which they scored only two points—left the Indians hopelessly behind.

Don Harmeling led the way for Cedar Grove with 20 points, all of them scored in the first half. The hosts connected on 18 out of 31 floor shots in the first half.

vided two-thirds of the senators present concur."

There is no question but that "advice" means the giving of counsel during the actual making of the treaties. It could do no good after a treaty is signed. The president may reject the "advice" and go ahead and sign a proposed treaty but, unless the senate gives its "consent," the document is not binding thereafter on the United States in its relations with other governments and countries.

As a consequence of the wording of the constitution on this point, there has arisen in recent years a formula whereby two or more senators accompany the head of any important foreign mission which is negotiating a treaty of vital concern to the United States. President Wilson was urged to let some senators accompany him to Paris and was severely criticized for his refusal. Yet President Franklin D. Roosevelt disregarded the lesson of that episode and failed to take any senators with him to Yalta. To this day he is criticized for that omission.

If, to be sure, there's to be a "summit" conference, it can hardly be in conformity with either the letter or the spirit of the constitution unless the senate itself votes to send two or more of its members to such a meeting to give the "advice" which the senate is empowered to offer during the course of any treaty-making.

'Sonny' Tornow Slaps 640 Major League Trio

Bassett Refrigeration Team Bawls Torrid 1987 'Scratch' Series

"Sonny" Tornow boomed a 640 series to lead a big night of bowling in Hahn's Major league Tuesday at Hahn's. He rattled singletons of 208 and 239 for Bassett Refrigeration, (37-28) which shares first place with the Pastyme club.

Fritz Kirk slapped the top solo, a 243, and finished with a 556 for Schaefer dairy.

Also reaching the 600 level were: Harry Kositzke (213, 214, 212, 639); Wally Roblee (233, 9-3, as R. Buss scored five 607); John Klimek (214, 214, 610); Ray Crane (206-229-622); Jack Burton (215, 210, 615) and Orv Strutz (232, 208, 608).

Burton, Tornow, and Strutz are teammates on the Bassett tripped the Hawks, 3-1, with B. and the Bluchmen tied, 3-3.

Hockey Splits in Boys Hockey League Action

League-leading Pond's won and lost in latest Minor Boys Hockey league action.

Pond's stopped the Hawks, 3-1, as R. Buss scored five goals for the winners. Pond's 610; Ray Crane (206-229-622); Jack Burton (215, 210, 615) and Orv Strutz (232, 208, 608).

In other results, the Badgers beat the Hawks, 3-1, with B. and the Bluchmen tied, 3-3.

Duke Quintet Jars NCS to Continue Surge

By the Associated Press

Duke's Blue Devils, coming with a rush since Coach Harold Bradley junked height for speed a month ago, are top dog in Atlantic Coast conference basketball today.

Probably the best 5-time loser around, the Blue Devils climaxed an 8-games-in-a-month streak Tuesday night by making it to the top of the conference with a 65-48 road whipping of North Carolina State.

Seven ACC foes and West Virginia, the biggest of them all, have fallen to the Devils in the streak that began Jan. 11 when Coach Bradley found a "speed" combination and turned 'em loose.

Duke has a 13-5 record and the Badgers' goals. The Badgers and the Bluchmen tied, 3-3.

Wausau Club Still Short of Goal

Wausau—The board of directors of the Wausau Northern league baseball club met Monday night to count their money and discovered that despite a 10-day fund raising drive they still are $350 short of making the necessary $2,000 minor league deposit.

However, directors were told that the league had granted them "a couple of days" to make up the difference, a spokesman said, and added that he was confident the lumberjacks would be able to do it.

Movement of Population Causes Strain

Clergyman Outlines Problem of People Leaving Rural Area

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
 Madison — The movement toward an increasingly urban society has made for stresses and strains upon the churches, a clergyman told a farm audience at the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture here.

The steady drift of population toward the cities and their suburbs has brought a loss of membership to the typical rural church while most of the urban churches have had the problem of increasing their physical accommodations, schools as well as churches, said the Rev. Wilfred J. Schuster of Brodhead.

The priest spoke as a representative of the Catholic Rural Life conference at the annual Farm and Home week sessions at the University of Wisconsin.

Stress of Change
 Said the Rev. Schuster: "The rural community appears to be under greater stress of change than at any other time of our history. Population shifts have left some communities on the verge of ghost towns, while others are pressed to find adequate church and school facilities for the ever increasing number of residents. The movement of population has been the continued trend of farm to city, especially of the rural youth."

The clergyman also asserted that the rural church must be alert to its responsibilities to the increasing number of older residents in the rural settlements.

"Perhaps we would do well to concentrate more on a program for our older people who still have many years of service to their church and community and at the same time benefit from the therapy that they do have a place and are needed for the betterment of their church and community," he said.

Navarino Luther League To Be Hosts for Ski, Toboggan Party

Navarino — Luther league members from Trinity Lutheran church, Green Bay, will be guests of the parish league Saturday night at a ski and toboggan party at the winter sports club house.

Members of the LDR and the Rev. and Mrs. L. D. Monson presented a program of hymns and devotions at the Homestead people's home, Wittenberg, Sunday.

4 FFA Members Seek State Farmer Title

Seymour — Four members of the Seymour FFA chapters have applied for the state farm-noon luncheon at the American Legion hall, Shiocton. They are Carl Henn, Dennis Muehl, Ronald Nelson and Ronald Graunke. These members have earned over $500, have a diversified farming program, have been a chapter farmer for a year, and have been in the upper 55 percent of their class academically.

An Extra Leg Attached to Its spine came as standard equipment for this calf born on the John Ver Voort farm, route 1, Kaukauna, in the town of Freedom. The calf, being held by Ver Voort's son, Meldon, 3, was five weeks old when the picture was taken. The leg appears to have a normal growth. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Oat Production Hits New All-Time Record in State

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
 Madison — Farmers of the state are making new production records with oats, a humble and ancient grain which is one of the key foundations of the livestock economy.

The state established a new, all-time high in average yield per acre for the 1957 oat crop, statisticians have reported, at 52.5 bushels to the acre.

The next highest average yield was attained in 1945, with 51 bushels to the acre.

H. L. Shands, University of Wisconsin agronomist, notes that oat varieties have tended to change considerably over the years, as new varieties chosen for resistance to rust and other ailments have been developed.

Varieties with the highest yield last year were Sauk, Branch, Clintland and Ajax.

The state's oats acreage was down somewhat last year, with a total of 2,668,000 acres. The 10-year average has been about 2,878,000 acres.

Shands believes farmers should diversify their grain crops, planting other grain crops than oats.

"Looking toward winter grains, the Racine variety of what has established a very good yield record, and Blackhawk continues to be widely grown. Adams rye is fall sown and is adapted to the rye soils of the state which are generally low in fertility," he says.

Schedule County Holstein Meeting

Election of directors and adoption of a 1958 program will be the top business items on the agenda of the Fox Outagamie county Holstein Breeders' association annual meeting on Feb. 17.

The program begins with a noon luncheon at the American Legion hall, Shiocton. John E. Powers, county agent, will honor the outstanding Holstein breeder for 1957, Nyla E. Bock, county home agent and former exchange student to Finland, will discuss her trip.

Talks by Holstein fieldmen are also on the program.

Brillion Open Cage Tourney Set for March

Brillion — The 21st annual open Eastern Wisconsin basketball tournament will be held in Brillion on March 18, 20, 21 and 22, according to the tournament director, Werner Amhoecker.

The tournament is sponsored by the Brillion Athletic association.

Dairymen Must Sell Product, Laird Declares

Congressman Says Better Promotion Needed in Industry

Milwaukee — Rep. Laird R - Marshfield, said Monday, "Milk and its products have not been satisfactorily sold to the American consumer."

The Republican congressman addressed the Wisconsin Seed Dealers association, discussing the "self-help dairy stabilization program" he proposed in the house last month.

Laird said the dairy industry "will be sick, regardless of government supports, just as long as the production of milk and its products outpace consumption."

He said the dairy farmer's "greatest help" lies in increasing consumption, a responsibility he said "lies principally with the dairy industry itself."

Laird said the dairy producers must promote their wares as industriously as other segments of the food business.

"In the 20th century," Laird said, "we have seen advertising sales promotion of less healthful substitutes and soft drinks outdistance dairy products by as much as 2,000 per cent."

The County Agent Answers

Are free trees available from the Wisconsin conservation department?

Trees are available from the Wisconsin conservation department for a small fee of 1 to 3 cents per tree. These trees must be used for reforestation, erosion control, windbreak, shelter belt or wildlife planting. Although the supply is becoming very limited, some Jack pine, Norway pine, White pine, White cedar, and Balsam fir are still available. For order blanks contact the county extension office, or the county forester.

What new bulletins are available in the county extension office?

University of Wisconsin bulletins on vegetable varieties, field crop varieties, and insect control for 1958 have just become available. There is no charge for these bulletins and they can be obtained from the county extension office. They contain the most recent recommendations of the college of agriculture and the United States department of agriculture.

Is the iron injection treatment recommended for pig anemia?

The "one shot" iron injection for preventing pig anemia has been very successful in most college tests. In every case pigs treated by this method when they were two or three days old weighed from one to six pounds more at eight weeks of age than pigs treated by other methods.

What breeds of pigs will be sold at the county swine sale?

The Outagamie county Swine Breeder's association will hold the seventh annual spring sale at the county farm on Saturday.

Purebred animals representing the Landrace, Duroc Jersey, Berkshire, Yorkshire, Hampshire, and Chester White breeds will be sold at this public auction. Fifteen gilts and 10 boars make up the catalogue for this sale.

Illinois Researchers Find Way to Cut Mastitis

Correct Milking Techniques Reduce Infection in Herd

Correct milking cuts mastitis infections in half among 468 Illinois dairy herds.

Leo R. Fryman, extension dairy specialist at the University of Illinois college of agriculture, reports that at the start of one experiment researchers found 40.8 per cent of the 8,058 cows in these herds showing signs of mastitis infection. Two years later, infection in the same herds had been cut to 22.5 per cent simply through use of good milking procedures and treatment of infected cows by competent veterinarians.

First step in the milking system used by these herd owners was to wash the teats and udder with warm chlorine water about a minute before putting on the milker. This process helps to stimulate the cow to let down her milk so that the machine starts drawing milk at the first pulsation.

Milked by Hand

To further stimulate let-down and to check on infected quarters, the farmers milked two or three squirts from each quarter into a strip cup before putting on the machine.

Then the farmers removed the machine from each cow as soon as milking was completed. Prompt removal prevents the teat cups from working upward and causing an irritation in the delicate tissues on the inside of the teat that could later lead to infection.

Teat cups were dipped into chlorine water between cows. Cows with known infections were treated and milked last.

Fryman points out that dairymen who rely on antibiotic treatment alone to control mastitis can find themselves in constant trouble and expense. Mastitis is like any other disease—easier to prevent than cure. Good milking routine can be the most important preventive.

Salvage Value Must Be Noted In Tax Returns

Economist Points Out Need of Attention To Account in Forms

Although farmers will face no major changes in figuring their 1957 income taxes, one requirement is being given increased attention by the Internal Revenue service this year, according to George B. Whitman, University of Illinois agricultural economist.

This requirement, largely omitted in previous years, is that farmers should recognize salvage value when depreciating any capital item in their business. In past years most farmers have set up the entire cost of a capital item for depreciation.

Now farmers are being reminded that they must recognize a salvage value on capital items. Salvage value is simply the amount that a capital item is worth when it is taken out of use. A farmer's practice will largely determine how much he will estimate as salvage value.

Salvage Value
For example, where certain machinery items are traded when they are still in good working condition, the salvage value may be substantial. But if it is customary to use certain equipment for its entire useful life, the salvage value will probably be no more than junk value.

In any case, the amount taken for depreciation over the estimated useful life of the capital item plus the salvage value should be no more than the original cost of that item.

To comply with this salvage value requirement Whitman suggests that farmers do two things in keeping their farm business records.

Keep in Records
When selling up the depreciation schedule for capital items acquired in 1957 or in future years, subtract a reasonable salvage value from the purchase price if salvage is a factor. Then proceed to make annual depreciation on the remainder.

Leave the depreciation schedule for items acquired before 1957 as it is. Do not go back and recalculate the depreciation to take salvage value into account. But instead, do not claim the last year of depreciation. Leave the depreciation for the last year you use this item in the farm business on the record to represent its salvage value.

If this salvage value seems more than reasonable, then take part of the depreciation but leave enough unclaimed to satisfy the salvage value requirement.

Whitman reports that copies of the 1958 Farmers Tax Guide, published by the Internal Revenue service are available free from the offices of the Internal Revenue service or the county

Waupaca County 107 Years Old Next Monday

Waupaca — The county will observe its 107th birthday Monday.

The first county officers in 1851 were John M. Vaughn, sheriff; W. G. Cooper, register of deeds; C. E. P. Hobart, treasurer; George W. Taggart, surveyor; James Smiley, clerk of supervisors, and John Buyle, coroner.

The first county seat was at the village of Mukwa. The village plat in the town of Mukwa was vacated May 22, 1871, when the county seat was moved to Waupaca.

SAVE $3.37

through first 6 weeks on every calf you feed

Land O'Lakes has developed a new calf-feeding program that produces 52 1/2 pounds of solid gain, in 6 weeks, at a total feed cost of $6.62!

Feeding a whole-milk program costs $9.99, as calculated under controlled, supervised feeding tests. Your saving: $3.37 per calf through the first six weeks!

Here's how it's done: Through the first 4 days, feed colostrum or nurse dam. From the 4th day through the 6th week, feed Land O'Lakes Calf Milk Replacer mixed with water twice daily. Also, feed Land O'Lakes Calf Pellets, free choice, until calf is eating about 1 1/2 pounds pellets daily.

Now, after those first 6 weeks, continue feeding Land O'Lakes Calf Pellets for more savings. These Calf Pellets are so palatable that calves clean them up with virtually no waste whatever. They really love 'em!

Why not get your calves started right—help them put on those steady, solid gains— and save money doing it right from the start. Specify Land O'Lakes Calf Feeds.

Firm Named To Plan Sewage Lift Station

Orbison and Orbison Selected by Board of Public Works

Orbison and Orbison, Appleton consulting engineers, were picked Tuesday to plan a sewage lift station on the city's far northwest side.

The board of public works, which made the selection, has no cost estimate for the project, but Mayor Robert L. Roemer believes it will be somewhere around $30,000 or $40,000.

Director of Public Works Edwin J. Duszynski said the station will be at the Soo Line Railroad tracks about where W. Lindbergh street extended would cross.

It will be needed when a 30-inch main is extended westward from N. Richmond street because the land from somewhere near N. Richmond pitches away from the sewage treatment plant on the city's east side.

The 30-inch main has been constructed along E. Pershing street from N. Meade street to N. Division street and the rest of the line will be constructed this year.

The lift station is expected to eliminate the present lift station at the west end of W. Wisconsin avenue.

When complete, station and 30-inch main are expected to serve about 520 acres which is without sanitary sewer service.

Kroger Says '57 Net Up 21 Per Cent

A 21 per cent increase in the net 1957 income of the Kroger company, parent company of Krambo Food stores, was reported by Joseph B. Hall, president in the retail food company's annual report to shareholders. Net income totaled $20,635,207, after taxes, compared with $17,071,250 for 1956.

Earnings per share amounted to $5.10 on 4,048,138 shares, compared with 1956 earnings of $4.22 per share on the same number of shares and $4.41 per share on the 3,872,307 shares outstanding on December 29, 1956.

Sales of $1,674,123,593 exceeded the previous all-time high reported for 1956 by 12 per cent. More than three-fourths of the sales gain represented increased tonnage and the remainder higher price levels, Hall said.

Average sales per store increased to $1,157,000 in 1957, Hall said. This compared with $963,000 per store in 1956 and $741,000 in 1955.

This reflects results of the company's program of closing small outmoded stores and opening larger new stores with parking facilities. During 1957, 140 new stores were opened and 37 remodeled while 195 smaller and older stores were closed.

Share Prices Again Ease

Moderate Trading; Ike's Statement Has Little Effect

New York — President Eisenhower's economic statement was shrugged off by Wall Street today as the stock market declined in moderate trading.

Just before Eisenhower's statement was made public there was a slight flurry to ward the upside. As the news came out that there were no new steps to combat the slump, prices weakened.

Leading issues were down fractions to a point generally with some losses stretching to 2 points or so.

Chemicals and oils were harder hit than the rest of the list. Steels and motors were off slightly. Aircrafts were mixed.

As further reductions were announced in the price of crude oil, Gulf Oil dropped more than 2 points. Losses of around a point were taken by Continental Oil, Royal Dutch and Standard Oil (New Jersey).

Du Pont fell close to 3 as news came of layoffs. Allied Chemical and Union Carbide were losers in about the 1-point range.

Losses of more than a point were taken by Caterpillar and Goodyear.

Rougeau's BEEF SALE!

YES . . . the price of beef is still raising, but we are offering you TERRIFIC BUYS on ALL MEATS for your freezer, so stock up and save many food dollars.

USE OUR EASY PAYMENT PLAN to stock that freezer. This plan is really "going to town" with most folks that have a freezer. An empty freezer is no good to anyone. Filling that freezer or locker is like having money in the bank. We have four different grades of beef to choose from: Economy, Commercial, U. S. Good and U. S. Choice. All grades are sold for freezers with Commercial and U. S. Good being the two top sellers. This beef is butchered in a state inspected slaughter house and each animal is inspected by a veterinarian for healthiness. When you buy here you can be sure of healthy, tender, succulent meats.

We wrap and sharp freeze your meat to your specifications to insure you tenderness and juiciness. Under our EASY PAYMENT PLAN you can buy meats, frozen foods, juices and canned goods at discount prices, and remember . . .

NOTHING DOWN, WE TRUST YOU!!!

Not Limited to Disasters

Red Cross Offers Year-Around Program for Health and Safety

Many woman and man hours of volunteer service have been expended during 1957 to further programs of the Outagamie county Red Cross chapter. Although most people become aware of the agency's activities only during disaster, year-around programs are conducted in matters of health and safety. Other programs are designed to offer comfort, recreation and help to patients confined to various hospitals in the area, a tally of 1957 activities indicates.

In preparation for emergencies which might incapacitate the community, members of the disaster committee, with Don Colby as chairman, have been meeting with civil defense personnel to coordinate activities and volunteers.

School Help
Other services are centered at Morgan school, across the street from the Red Cross office, where staff aides work in the library and opportunity school. In addition, these women serve at Winnebago State hospital and helped pack supplies for Hungarian relief—putting in a year's total of 2,402 hours. Mrs. Robert Peterson is chairman of volunteers engaged in this work.

Another popular service, particularly with children, is the swimming program. Up to 200 children a day received instruction last summer during the ...rural learn to swim project and 831 youngsters have been issued swimming certificates. All such classes are conducted by volunteer instructors.

Since April, 1957, 15 Gray Ladies have worked 340 hours at Outagamie County hospital of ties to patients while Gray Ladies and Gray Men have donated 4,220 hours at Winnebago State hospital. Mrs. Frank Lethen is chairman of the Winnebago group and Mrs. Don Uzanis is chairman of county hospital volunteers.

During the year, 568 families of individuals were given personal or financial assistance under the auspices of the home service committee and loans or grants amounting to $1,049 have been given to meet emergencies of servicemen, veterans or their families. Mrs. Donald Morrissey is chairman of these activities.

Nursing Services
Nursing service volunteers have Mrs. Bernice Hesolton as chairman and have conducted hospital and helped pack supplies for Hungarian relief—putting in a year's total of 2,402 hours. Mrs. Robert Peterson is chairman of volunteers engaged in this work.

Another popular service, particularly with children, is the swimming program. Up to 200 children a day received instruction last summer during the

...called upon in event of disaster. Another popular program centers about first aid instruction offered throughout the year. A total of 1,196 individuals attended courses given by 14 volunteer instructors throughout the county. Besides this, four mobile first aid units are in operation to render assistance to victims of accidents. The work is under the direction of Hollister Martin.

Red Cross programs are not limited to adults as students in 72 city and county schools enrolled in the Junior Red Cross will testify. The Rev. John Hubner, chairman, notes 19 Appleton public and parochial and 53 rural schools participate in junior activities. Christmas time finds another service activated—that of sending gifts to servicemen overseas during the holiday period. A total of 85 packages, donated by service groups, were packed and shipped last year under the direction of Mrs. W. S. Gillette.

Do FALSE TEETH Rock, Slide or Slip?

FASTTEETH, an improved powder to be sprinkled on upper or lower plates, holds false teeth more firmly in place. Do not slide, slip or rock. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. FASTTEETH is alkaline (non-acid). Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTTEETH at any drug counter.
